

Contents

About the authors	xiv
Preface	xv
How to use this book	xvii
Guide to icons	xix
Summary of chapter contents	xx
Acknowledgements	xxii
Student endorsements	xxiii
1 Introduction: Living and studying in the UK	1
Being successful	1
Chapter 1: Xiangping's study tips	2
The United Kingdom: A multicultural society	3
What does 'British' mean?	4
The European Union	4
The UK Higher Education system	5
Foundation modules	5
Bachelor's/undergraduate degrees	5
Master's/postgraduate degrees	6
Doctorates	6
Adaptation issues	7
UK culture	7
UK climate	7
Food and sleep	8
Communication issues	9
Concerns about success	9
Induction	10
Communicating with your tutors	11
Virtual Learning Environments	11
Making friends	12
What is your name?	13
Administrative issues	13
Registering with the university and paying fees	14
Registering with the local police	14

Registering with medical services	14
Visa regulations and attendance	14
Opening a bank account	15
Chapter 1: Key words and concepts – English and Chinese	15
Chapter 1: Test yourself	16
Chapter 1: Reflection box	17
2 Developing your academic English skills	18
Introduction	18
Chapter 2: Xiangping's study tips	20
English language support	21
Listening	21
Reading	22
Reading for 'gist'	23
What to read	24
Using dictionaries	25
Taking notes from what you read	26
Taking notes from what you hear	27
Speaking	28
Academic writing	32
English vocabulary	32
Key academic vocabulary	32
Accurate use of words	33
General English	33
Be careful with phrasal verbs	34
Avoid 'short' forms and slang	35
Be precise	35
Avoid first/second person	36
Avoid emotive language	37
Avoid clichés	37
Use inclusive language	37
Use the passive voice	38
Sentences	39
KISS	39
Paragraphs	39
PEEEL	40
Quotation	43
The problem with quotations	43
Paraphrasing	44
Summarising	44
Checking your own work	46
Proofreading tips	46

Peer checking	46
English grammar	47
Verb tenses	47
Capitalisation	49
Acronyms	50
English and American spelling	50
Appropriate linking and signposting phrases	51
Overgeneralisations	51
Accurate use of vocabulary and jargon	52
Fonts, headings, sub-headings and line spacing	53
Correct use of punctuation	54
Common Latin words in academic writing	57
Things to remember about using Latin abbreviations and phrases	59
Chapter 2: Key words and concepts – English and Chinese	59
Chapter 2: Test yourself	60
Chapter 2: Reflection box	60
 3 Developing your academic study skills	 62
Introduction	62
Chapter 3: Xiangping's study tips	63
Becoming a responsible learner	65
Academic misconduct: Cheating, collusion and plagiarism	65
Referencing and citing academic information	68
In-text citation system	69
Final reference list	70
Becoming an independent learner	72
Data handling skills	74
Becoming a proactive researcher	74
Using the library	74
Buying textbooks	75
Decide if a source is relevant for your exact task	75
How to improve your reading	76
Processing and understanding text	76
Reading academic articles	77
Reading journal articles	77
Using internet sources	78
What to look for in an academic article	79
Improve your reading by increasing your reading speed	79
Becoming an effective learner	80
Lectures	80
Seminars, tutorials and workshops	81

Experiential learning: Work placement and overseas exchanges	82
Becoming an effective organiser	83
Groupwork: Becoming a team-player	84
Getting the group started	85
The first meeting	86
Establishing group roles	86
Addressing conflict	86
Steps for preventing or resolving conflict within the group	87
Becoming an effective communicator	87
Emails	88
Telephone communication	89
Different ways of thinking	89
Becoming a critical thinker	89
Postmodernism	92
What is fact and what is opinion?	92
What is knowledge and what is academic truth?	93
Theory of knowledge	95
What does 'being critical' mean in academic study?	95
Evaluation	96
Becoming a critical reader	97
Evaluation and knowledge	99
Evaluating information	101
Critical evaluation of data	101
Five star data	102
Two star data	102
One star data	102
Critical evaluation of research	102
Critical evaluation of theories and models	104
Two types of theory	104
Analytical and descriptive theories	104
Explanatory theories	105
Applying theory	105
Step 1: Identifying relevant theory	106
Step 2: Applying the theory	106
Step 3: Evaluating the theory	107
Step 4: Testing the theory	108
Critical evaluation of practice	108
Critical evaluation: Comparing and contrasting	109
Analysis	115
Synthesis	116
Developing your own 'voice' in your academic work	117

Always use cautious language for your opinion	118
Arguments and narratives	121
Inductive argument	123
Deductive argument	124
Chapter 3: Key words and concepts – English and Chinese	124
Chapter 3: Test yourself	125
Chapter 3: Reflection box	126
 4 Assignments, assessment and feedback	 127
Introduction	127
Chapter 4: Xiangping's study tips	128
Module guides and learning outcome	129
Three types of learning outcome	129
What is assessment like in the UK?	130
Assignment writing skills	131
Summary of things to check for in your assignment	132
Understanding the assignment	132
Task-based assignments	134
Assignment instructions	136
Assignment structure	140
Signposting	140
Introductions and conclusions	141
Good introductions	141
Good conclusions	142
Drafting	143
Draft 1: A quick draft to get ideas down	143
Draft 2: Fine-tune the structure	143
Draft 3: Fine-tune the style and content	143
Content and argument	144
Structure and grouping	144
Style	144
General	144
Essays and reports	145
Essays	146
Reports	148
Critiques and critical reviews	155
How to write a critical review	156
Examples of criteria used for evaluating and reviewing a research article	157
Persuasive and creative writing	158
Creative writing	158
Case studies	160

Types of case study	161
Applying theory to cases	162
Group-work case studies	162
Stages of case-study report writing	163
Reflective and self-evaluative writing	166
General steps for reflective writing	168
Reflection on module learning outcomes	169
Reflection on group work	169
Things to leave out of your reflective writing	172
Portfolios	173
Oral presentations	173
Public speaking and presentations	174
Giving a presentation	175
Planning your presentation	176
Preparing your presentation	177
Being specific and relevant	177
Using visual aids	177
Using graphs and charts	178
Using notes	178
Practice and nerves	178
Body language	179
Question time	179
Presentation assessment	180
Module assignment feedback	180
How to use feedback to improve	181
Examinations	182
Exam techniques	182
Pre-exam preparation	182
Organise your revision time	183
Preparation	183
Starting the exam	185
Open book exams	186
Scenarios	186
Chapter 4: Key words and concepts – English and Chinese	187
Chapter 4: Test yourself	187
Chapter 4: Reflection box	188
5 Research and dissertations	189
Introduction	189
Chapter 5: Xiangping's study tips	190
Dissertations	192
What is research?	194

Evidence-based research	195
Scientific research	197
Grounded research and structured research	197
Primary and secondary research and triangulation	198
Quantitative, qualitative and interpretive research designs	198
Mixed and creative research designs	199
Research topic	199
Topic focus	201
The research question	202
Research methodology and methods	203
Survey questionnaires	204
Qualitative and quantitative questions	205
Open and closed questions	205
Likert-scaled questions	206
Questionnaire wording	207
Order of questions	208
Questionnaire checklist	209
Interviews	209
The interviewer effect	210
The respondent effect	210
Focus groups	210
The role of the researcher	210
Pilot studies	211
Sampling	211
Bias and errors in sampling	211
Selecting the sample	212
Sample size	212
Common types of samples	212
The convenience sample	213
Quota sample	213
Judgement sample	213
Simple random sample	213
Quantitative analysis methods	213
Content analysis	214
Research projects and dissertations	214
Research proposal	215
The structure of a dissertation	215
Title page	215
Dissertation title	215
Acknowledgements	217
Abstract	217

Table of contents	217
Chapter 1: Introduction	217
Chapter 2: Literature review	218
Writing the literature review	219
Critically evaluate the literature	220
Steps to writing a literature review	221
Step 1: Read and record	221
Step 2: Establish the sections	221
Step 3: Write short summaries	221
Step 4: Order the sections and write your introduction and conclusion	222
Step 5: Proofreading and referencing	222
Important characteristics of a literature review	222
Chapter 3: Methodology	223
Discussion of alternative methods of data collection	223
Discussion of the question content and data required	223
Discussion of the format of the questionnaire(s)/interview(s)	223
Discussion of the phrasing of the questions	224
Discussion of the response formats	224
Discussion of data collection method	224
Discussion of sample	224
Note on data analysis technique	224
Review of the methodology used for the research	224
Data reliability and validity	225
Chapter 4: Findings and analysis	225
Part 1: Findings	225
Part 2: Analysis and discussion	225
Chapter 5: Conclusions and recommendations	225
Recommendations	226
Chapter 6: Reflection	226
References	227
Bibliography	227
Appendices	227
Common words and phrases for your dissertation writing	228
Establishing the importance of your topic	228
Identifying a controversial issue in your topic	228
Highlighting a lack of research in your topic area	228
Showing the focus of your research	229
Indicating the structure of your research	229
General descriptions of the relevant literature	229
Reference to other research	230
Discussing possible limitations of your research	230

Critical evaluation	231
Writing about other authors' evaluations	231
Describing the characteristics of a research sample	231
Describing the research process	232
Referring to tables and figures	232
How to indicate figures and tables in the text	233
Highlighting significant, interesting or surprising results	234
Reporting results from questionnaires and interviews	234
Unexpected outcomes	234
Reference to previous supporting evidence	235
Reference to contradictory evidence	235
Explanations for results	235
Advising cautious interpretation	236
Giving your opinion – writing about the implications of your findings	236
Definitions	236
Specifying terms that are used in an essay or research study	237
Referring to other definitions	237
Verbs expressing causality	237
Expressing causality	238
Comparison	238
Describing trends	238
Projecting trends	238
Describing fractions	238
Describing percentages	239
Chapter 5: Key words and concepts – English and Chinese	239
Chapter 5: Test yourself	240
Chapter 5: Reflection box	241
Appendix	242
Answers to the 'Test yourself' questions	242
Answers to the activities	244
Reflection box Chapter 4	250
Reflection box Chapter 5	251
Index	252