

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction: Gender, family and social change: from modernity to the Millennial generation	I
Family, family change, modernity	4
Family, family change, contemporary modernities	10
The book	14
Section One: Gender change and challenges to intimacy and sexual relations	29
One Asexual women and men: living without sex	31
Asexuality: a complex concept	31
Research on asexuality	35
Asexuality, couples, children	37
The asexual movement	38
Two Childfree women and men: living without children	45
The term 'childfree'	45
Research on childfree women and men	46
Reasons to be childfree	51
The childfree movement	53
Three Couples together yet apart: 'I love you but do not want to live with you'	61
The term 'living apart together'	61
Research on living apart together couples	62
Reasons for living apart	65
Invisible living apart together people?	67
Section Two: Gender change and challenges to traditional forms of parenthood	75
Four Stay-at-home husbands and fathers	77
Stay-at-home men	77
Research on stay-at-home husbands and fathers	79
Male carers, couples and children	82
The househusbands'/stay-at-home fathers' movement	83
Five Lone mothers and lone fathers	93
Lone mothers and lone fathers through history	93
Research on lone parenting	95

	Lone parenting and children	103
	The lone parenthood movement: from marginalisation to empowerment	105
Six	Homosexual and trans parents	117
	Homosexual and transgender parenting	117
	Research on homosexual parenting	119
	Research on transgender parenting	123
	The homosexual and trans parents rights movement	126
	Conclusions: what can we learn?	133
	Glossary of key concepts	141
	Index	157