

Contents

List of figures and tables	v
Notes on contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	xi
one Varieties of crisis Kevin Farnsworth and Zoë Irving	 I two The economic crisis and paradigm change Michael Hill	 31
three From financial crisis to fiscal crisis Ian Gough	 49
four Credit crunch, inequality and social policy Adrian Sinfield	 65
five Global social policy responses to the economic crisis Bob Deacon	 81
six Poverty, the crisis and social policy responses in developing countries Armando Barrientos	 101
seven South Korea after the 1997 economic crisis: a 'paradigm shift'? Eunna Lee-Gong	 119
eight China's response to crisis: what role for social policy? Sarah Cook and Wing Lam	 139
nine Tiptoeing through crisis? Re-evaluating the German social model in light of the global recession John Hudson and Stefan Kühner	 159
ten Ireland and the impact of the economic crisis: upholding the dominant policy paradigm Mairéad Considine and Fiona Dukelow	 181

eleven	Waving not drowning: Iceland, kreppan and alternative social policy futures Zoë Irving	199
twelve	Experiences from two financial crises in the Nordic welfare states: 1990-93 and 2008-10 compared Pekka Kosonen	219
thirteen	Social policy and the recent economic crisis in Canada and the United States Daniel Béland and Alex Waddan	231
fourteen	From economic crisis to a new age of austerity: the UK Kevin Farnsworth	251
fifteen	Responding to the challenges: some concluding remarks on welfare futures in changed circumstances Kevin Farnsworth and Zoë Irving	271
	Bibliography	279
	Index	323