

Contents

---

List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	x
List of Charts	xi
Acknowledgments	xii
A Time of Change	1
1 The Crisis of Industrial Statism and the Collapse of the Soviet Union	5
The Extensive Model of Economic Growth and the Limits of Hyperindustrialism	10
The Technology Question	26
The Abduction of Identity and the Crisis of Soviet Federalism	37
The Last Perestroika	46
Nationalism, Democracy, and the Disintegration of the Soviet State	55
The Scars of History, the Lessons for Theory, the Legacy for Society	61
2 The Rise of the Fourth World: Informational Capitalism, Poverty, and Social Exclusion	68

Toward a Polarized World? A Global Overview	73
The De-humanization of Africa	82
Marginalization and selective integration of Sub-Saharan Africa in the informational-global economy	83
Africa's technological apartheid at the dawn of the Information Age	92
The predatory state	95
Zaire: the personal appropriation of the state	99
Nigeria: oil, ethnicity, and military predation	101
Ethnic identity, economic globalization, and state formation in Africa	105
Africa's plight	114
Africa's hope? The South African connection	121
Out of Africa or back to Africa? The politics and economics of self-reliance	127
The New American Dilemma: Inequality, Urban Poverty, and Social Exclusion in the Information Age	128
Dual America	129
The inner-city ghetto as a system of social exclusion	140
When the underclass goes to hell	148
Globalization, Over-exploitation, and Social Exclusion: the View from the Children	153
The sexual exploitation of children	158
The killing of children: war massacres and child soldiers	161
Why children are wasted	162
Conclusion: the Black Holes of Informational Capitalism	165
3 The Perverse Connection: the Global Criminal Economy	169
Organizational Globalization of Crime, Cultural Identification of Criminals	171
The Pillage of Russia	183
The structural perspective	187
Identifying the actors	188
Mechanisms of Accumulation	190
Narcotrafico, Development, and Dependency in Latin America	195
What are the economic consequences of the drugs industry for Latin America?	200
Why Colombia?	202
The Impact of Global Crime on Economy, Politics, and Culture	206

4 Development and Crisis in the Asian Pacific:
Globalization and the State	212
The Changing Fortunes of the Asian Pacific	212
Heisei's Japan: Developmental State versus Information Society	220
A social model of the Japanese developmental process	222
Declining sun: the crisis of the Japanese model of development	233
The end of "Nagatacho politics"	245
Hatten Hokka and Johoka Shakai: a contradictory relationship	248
Japan and the Pacific	255
Beheading the Dragon? Four Asian Tigers with a Dragon Head, and their Civil Societies	256
Understanding Asian development	257
Singapore: state nation-building via multinational corporations	259
South Korea: the state production of oligopolistic capitalism	262
Taiwan: flexible capitalism under the guidance of an inflexible state	266
Hong Kong model versus Hong Kong reality: small business in a world economy, and the colonial version of the welfare state	270
The breeding of the tigers: commonalities and dissimilarities in their process of economic development	276
The developmental state in East Asian industrialization: on the concept of the developmental state	282
The rise of the developmental state: from the politics of survival to the process of nation-building	284
The state and civil society in the restructuring of East Asia: how the developmental state succeeded in the development process	289
Divergent paths: Asian "tigers" in the economic crisis	293
Democracy, identity, and development in East Asia in the 1990s	299
Chinese Developmental Nationalism with Socialist Characteristics	307
The new Chinese revolution	308
Guanxi capitalism? China in the global economy	313

---

China's regional developmental states and the bureaucratic (capitalist) entrepreneurs	317
Weathering the storm? China in the Asian economic crisis	320
Democracy, development, and nationalism in the new China	323
Conclusion: Globalization and the State	333
5 The Unification of Europe: Globalization, Identity, and the Network State	338
European Unification as a Sequence of Defensive Reactions: a Half-century Perspective	340
Globalization and European Integration	348
Cultural Identity and European Unification	357
The Institutionalization of Europe: the Network State	361
European Identity or European Project?	364
Conclusion: Making Sense of our World	366
Genesis of a New World	367
A New Society	371
The New Avenues of Social Change	382
Beyond this Millennium	384
What is to be Done?	389
Finale	390
Summary of Contents of Volumes I and II	392
References	394
Index	427