

CONTENTS

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
Notes on contributors	ix
1 Introduction Petter Næss and Leigh Price	1
2 Ideology and economics Tony Lawson	8
3 The economics of research: the contribution of critical realism David Tyfield	30
4 Inaccurate and biased: cost–benefit analyses of transport infrastructure projects Petter Næss	48
5 Arguments for and against economic growth Jin Xue	69
6 The symptomatology of crises: some critical realist reflections Bob Jessop	89

vi Contents

7	Using retrodution to address wicked problems Leigh Price	109
8	Housing standards, environmental sustainability, and social welfare Petter Næss and Jin Xue	130
9	Systemic issues within the crisis of global capitalism: the case of land and food Robert Biel	149
10	The illusion of green capitalism Petter Næss	173
11	China at the crossroad: ecological modernization or ecosocialism? Jin Xue	192
12	Making the critique of capitalism fit for the present crisis Arne Johan Vetlesen	209
	Index	225

