

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgments	xi
1 Introduction: Making Sense of European National Identities and Diversity Roland Vogt and Wayne Cristaudo	1
2 Belgium: A Nation-State without a National Identity? Roland Vogt	13
3 A Riven Nation: Old versus New Britain Wayne Cristaudo	31
4 France: Between the Individual and the Universal Denis Meyer	51
5 German National Identity: Moving beyond Guilt Roland Vogt and Chong Li	71
6 Greek Identity: Between Hellenism and Europeanism Georgios Repousis and Andreas Leutzsch	95
7 Italy: One Nation, Three Republics, and a Thousand Identities Waddick Doyle	113
8 “The Chinese of Europe?” Dutch Identities on Trial Arie Amaya-Akkermans	135
9 Poland: A Nation of the In-Between Krzysztof Sliwinski	155

10	Portugal: A Future's Past between Land and Sea Andreas Leutzsch	173
11	Russia's Nostalgic Present Laura Victoir	197
12	Spain: One Country, Many Regional Identities Rocio Blasco-García	213
13	Sweden: Social Solitariness Kristina Tolinsson Ting	233
14	Turkey as Borderland: Inside Europe, Outside, or In-Between? Jochen Walter	253
15	From "Yugoslavism" to (Post-) Yugoslav Nationalisms: Understanding Yugoslav Identities Đorđe Tomić	271
16	Yugoslavs and Europeans: A Tale of Two Supranational Identities Aleksandar Pavković	293
17	European Identities: Multiple Forms of a Contested Concept Roland Vogt	311
	Contributors	333
	Index	335