

Contents

About the Author

ix

Acknowledgements

x

1 Taking the Leap into the Research World

1

The challenge of tackling a research project

1

So what is this thing called research and why do it?

2

Delving into the 'construct' of research

4

Getting help along the way

11

Chapter summary

14

Further reading

14

2 Setting Up and Getting Started

18

Getting started

18

Navigating the process

19

Staying on course

26

Chapter summary

29

Further reading

30

3 Developing Your Research Question

31

The importance of good questions

31

Defining your topic

32

From interesting topics to researchable questions

36

Characteristics of good questions

42

Chapter summary

45

Further reading

46

4 Undertaking Credible and Ethical Research

47

Power, politics, ethics and research integrity

47

Credibility: integrity in the production of knowledge

49

Ethics: integrity and the 'researched'

62

Chapter summary

70

Further reading

70

5 Crafting a Research Proposal	72
Role of the proposal	72
Elements of the proposal	74
Writing a winning proposal	76
Obstacles and challenges	81
Chapter summary	83
Further reading	83
6 Reviewing Literature	85
The importance of literature	85
Sourcing relevant literature	89
Managing the literature	95
Writing the formal 'literature review'	98
Chapter summary	103
Further reading	103
7 Designing a Research Plan	105
Moving from questions to answers	105
Getting it right for the researcher	111
Pragmatics: making it doable	112
It's all in the details	113
Chapter summary	118
Further reading	119
8 Understanding Methodologies: Quantitative, Qualitative and Mixed Approaches	120
Understanding the quantitative–qualitative divide	120
The quantitative tradition	122
The qualitative tradition	130
Mixed methodology	146
Chapter summary	151
Further reading	151
9 Understanding Methodologies: Evaluative, Action-Oriented and Emancipatory Strategies	156
Research that attempts to drive change	156
Evaluative research	157
Action research	166
Emancipatory research	173

Chapter summary	178
Further reading	178
10 Seeking 'Respondents'	181
Who holds the answer?	181
Samples: selecting elements of a population	182
Key informants: working with experts and insiders	191
Cases: delving into detail	194
Chapter summary	198
Further reading	198
11 Primary Data: Surveys, Interviews and Observation	201
The challenge of collecting primary data	201
Surveying	202
Interviewing	216
Observation	229
Chapter summary	239
Further reading	240
12 Secondary Data: Documents, Data Sets and Online Data	243
The challenge of working with secondary data	243
'Texts' and documents	244
Existing studies and data sets	254
Online data	261
Chapter summary	270
Further reading	270
13 Analysing Quantitative Data	274
Moving from raw data to significant findings	274
Managing data and defining variables	277
Descriptive statistics	281
Inferential statistics	284
Presenting quantitative data	288
Chapter summary	297
Further reading	297
14 Analysing Qualitative Data	299
The promise of qualitative data	299
The logic of QDA	304

The methods of QDA	306
Specific QDA strategies	314
Presenting qualitative data	314
A final word	319
Chapter summary	319
Further reading	320
15 The Challenge of Writing Up	325
The writing challenge	325
Research as communication	326
The writing process	329
Creating powerful presentations	339
The need for exposure	340
The final word	343
Chapter summary	343
Further reading	344
Glossary	346
Bibliography	359
Index	367