

Contents

Table of Cases	xi
Prologue: The View from 1949	xv
Introduction	xxix
1. Consolidation, 1951–1959	1
Introduction	1
I. Institutional Independence	5
II. Judicial Politics	14
III. Judicial Supremacy and the Politics of the Past	28
IV. Militant Democracy and Its Discontents	38
V. The Quiet Birth of Fundamental Rights	49
Conclusion	61
2. Confidence, 1959–1971	63
Introduction	63
I. Adenauer's Last Stand	67
II. The Party State	80
III. The State of Exception	98
Conclusion	103
3. Confrontation, 1971–1982	109
Introduction	109
I. Departure of the Giants	114
II. Fundamental Rights	117
III. Political Justice	126
IV. Changing of the Guard	164
V. Crisis	167
Conclusion	180
4. Continuity, 1982–1990	183
Introduction	183
I. High (Constitutional) Politics	185
II. Fundamental Rights in Shades of Green	207
III. The Largest Turnover in the Court's History	217
IV. The German Question on the Eve of Reunification	219
5. Karlsruhe Republic, 1990–2001	223
Introduction	223
I. The German Question	231
II. Bio-Politics and Social Policy	248
III. Freedom of Conscience and Expression	256
IV. Germany and the World	274
Conclusion	284

Epilogue: The View from Europe	291
I. The Lisbon Judgment	292
II. The Watchdog Begins to Growl	298
III. Final Reflections	301
 Selected Bibliography	 307
Index	323