

Contents

List of Figures	vi
Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	1
1 Pre-Academic Reformism and the Conflict between Advocacy and Objectivity until 1920	6
2 The Revolution of the 1920s and the Interwar Years	25
3 The Postwar Boom	35
4 The Crisis of the 1970s and Its Long-Term Consequences	44
5 The Near-Death Experience and Its Consequences	56
6 Feminization, the New University Environment, and the Quest for a Sociology for People	66
7 The Elite and Its Power	81
8 Activism, Professionalism, or Condominium?	98
References	121
Index	134