

Contents

The author and series editors	xv
-------------------------------	----

Foreword	xvi
----------	-----

PART ONE

Introduction: questions that need answering

Chapter 1 Questions about cohesion

1.1 The aim of this book	3
1.2 The nature of cohesion	3
1.3 Questions concerning the place of cohesion	10
Question 1: cohesion and coherence	11
Question 2: cohesion and sentence relationships	12
Question 3: cohesion and text organization	13
1.4 Work relevant to the questions	14
Hasan (1984)	14
Winter (1974, 1979)	16
Phillips (1985)	21
1.5 A way forward	25

Chapter 2 A metaphor for text organization

2.1 The aim of this chapter	26
2.2 Sentence as a metaphor for text	26
2.3 An alternative metaphor	30
2.4 A simple example	35
The repetition links: sentence 1	36
The repetition links: sentence 2	38
The repetition links: sentence 3	39
The repetition links: sentence 4	40
2.5 A representation of the repetition patterning	41
2.6 Unwanted cohesion	42
2.7 Interpretation of the patterning: central and marginal sentences	43
2.8 Interpretation of the patterning: common ground between sentences	45
2.9 Conclusions	48

PART TWO

Answers from text analysis

Chapter 3 Types of repetition

3.1	The aim of this chapter	51
3.2	Repetition as links	51
3.3	Simple lexical repetition	52
3.4	Complex lexical repetition	55
3.5	Text-forming versus 'chance' lexical repetition	56
3.6	Simple paraphrase	62
3.7	Complex paraphrase and the link triangle	64
3.8	Superordinate, hyponymic, and co-reference repetition	69
3.9	Other ways of repeating	70
	Personal pronouns	71
	Demonstrative pronouns and modifiers	72
	Other substitution links	73
3.10	A last look at the 'collection of texts' metaphor	75

Chapter 4 Patterns of repetition in non-narrative text

4.1	The aim of this chapter	76
4.2	The data	78
4.3	Identification of repetition links	81
4.4	Construction of a repetition matrix	84
4.5	Creation of a net of bonds	91
4.6	An extension to the data	94
4.7	Conclusions	99

Chapter 5 The significance of repetition nets

5.1	The aim of this chapter	100
5.2	The removal of certain features of cohesion	100
5.3	The net as record of bonding	104
5.4	Marginal sentences	105
	Sentences 5, 9, and 10	106
	Sentence 18	107
	Sentence 27	108
	Sentences 30 and 31	108
	Sentence 13	109
	Abridgement: procedure 1 (marginal sentences)	113

Contents

5.5	Central sentences	113
	Abridgement: procedure 2 (central sentences)	114
5.6	Topic opening and topic closing	118
	Clear topic-opening sentences	119
	Clear topic-closing sentences	120
	Other topic openings and closings	121
5.7	Conclusions	124
 Chapter 6 Properties of the bonds of the nets
6.1	The aim of this chapter	125
6.2	Claims for the bonds	125
6.3	Testing the strong claim	127
	Sentences 1 and 4	127
	Sentences 1 and 7	128
	Sentences 1 and 17	129
	Sentences 17 and 24	130
	Sentences 19 and 26	130
	Sentences 20 and 38	130
	Sentences 21 and 23	131
	Sentences 23 and 36	132
	Sentences 23 and 38	132
	Sentences 25 and 28	133
6.4	Testing the weak claim	133
	Excessive repetition	134
	The effect of voice choice	136
	The effect of modal choice	136
	The effect of given–new relationships	138
	The role of context	141
6.5	Abridgement: procedure 3 (topic-controlling sentences)	142
	Sentence 17: summary	143
	Sentence 38: first summary	144
	Sentence 38: second summary	146
	Sentence 1: summary	147
6.6	Distance bonding	149
6.7	Bonding and reader creativity	152
6.8	Bonding and writer creativity	155
6.9	Conclusions	159

Chapter 7 How the links work

7.1	The aim of this chapter	162
7.2	How the pairs are related	162
7.3	Processes in the creation of parallelism	167
	Lexical expansion	170
	Lexical reduction	170
	Lexical transference	171
	Lexical substitution	171
	Syntactic equivalence	171
	Discoursal expansion	172
7.4	Exemplification of the processes of parallelism	174
	Sentences 17 and 24	174
	Sentences 19 and 26	176
	Sentences 21 and 23	179
7.5	Conclusions	183

PART THREE

Implications for theory and practice

Chapter 8 Implications for a theory of language

8.1	The aim of this chapter	187
8.2	Claims about the nature of text	188
8.3	Text as structure versus text as organization	193
8.4	Halliday's map of language (1961)	194
8.5	The meaning of context in Halliday (1961)	196
8.6	A revision of Halliday's map of language	198
8.7	The place of monologue in a map of language study	202
8.8	The place of lexis in a map of language study	206
8.9	Implications of our map of language	209
8.10	Further symmetries in our map of language	210
	Reference to adjacent areas	210
	The relationship of speech and writing	211
	Grammar and discourse	211
	Sentence and morpheme	214
	Relationships across the map of language	217
8.11	Conclusions	220

Chapter 9 Implications for reading and writing

9.1	The aim of this chapter	221
9.2	The reader's active role	221
9.3	Typical reading purposes	223
9.4	Typical reading strategies	224
9.5	Reading quickly and reading carefully	225
9.6	Identifying relevant sentences	226
9.7	Getting sense out of a text	231
9.8	Rough and ready analyses	235
9.9	Reading for reference	236
9.10	The teaching of lexis	240
9.11	Repetition and writing	242
9.12	Conclusions	245
Appendix I		246
Appendix II		249
Appendix III		253
Appendix IV		254
Appendix V		255
Bibliography		258
Glossary		265
Notes		270
Index		273

Index

Entries relate to Parts One, Two, and Three of the text and to the glossary and chapter notes. References to the glossary are indicated by 'g', and to the notes by 'n'.

- abridgement(s) 113, 114–18, 142–8
- academic/scientific texts
  - collocation 21–5
  - organization 31–2
  - patterns of repetition 76–99
- active vs. passive voice 136, 181
- adventure game books 30, 270n
- allusion to other works, recognition by reader 153
- analyses, rough and ready 235–6
- anaphoric repetition 81–2
- antonymy
  - category of lexical cohesion 8
  - complex paraphrase 64, 65, 83
- asymmetrical replacement 19–20
- autobiography, cohesive ties 9
- autonomous/interactive planes 111, 137
- Beaugrande, R.-A. de 11, 203
- bibliographical references, use for research 33–5, 36, 43
- bonds, bonding 91–161, 188–93, 265g
  - effect on reading 222, 225–41
- careful vs. quick reading 225–6
- central sentences 43–5, 113–18, 265g
- chains 14–16, 22, 85
- chance repetition 56–62
- children's fiction
  - cohesive ties 9
  - see also* adventure game books
- children's writing, coherence and cohesion 14–16
- Chomsky, N.
  - creativity 210, 271n
  - phase structure rules 29
  - syntax 211
  - transformation 162, 172
- citations, bibliographical 33–5, 36, 43
- clarification-seeking 238–40
- clause complex 216
- clause relations 17–20, 126, 265g
- closed system/open-set patterns 207
- COBUILD English Language Dictionary 154
- coherence 265g
  - relation to cohesion 11–12, 25
- cohesion 3–25, 266g
  - local non-lexical removal 100–3
  - unwanted 42–3
- cohesion profile 41–2
- cohesive chains 14–16, 22, 85
- cohesive harmony 14
- cohesive ties 5–10
  - see also* chains
- 'collection of texts' metaphor 30–5, 75
- collocation 6–8, 154, 219
  - organization of book-length texts 21–5
- complex lexical repetition, weighting 83
- complex paraphrase see paraphrase, complex
- complex repetition see repetition, complex
- condition–consequence relation 178
- conjunction, conjuncts 5, 9, 103
- consequence–condition relation 178
- context
  - in map of language 195–6
  - meaning 196–8
  - role 141–2
  - storage of lexical items 154–5
- co-ordination/subordination categories 28
- co-reference, weighting 83
- co-reference repetition 69–70
- Coulthard, R.M. 30, 199, 201
- creativity 210, 271n
  - and bonding 152–9
- decoder/encoder 82, 203
- definition 154–5
- deletion 17
- demonstrative pronouns 72–3
- denial clauses 19
- derivatives 56
- determiners, reference items 5
- dialogue 199
  - metaphor for text 30

- discoursal expansion 172–3, 174–6, 179, 181
- discourse 27–8, 199, 266g and grammar 211–13
vs. text 196–7, 270n
- displacement of concepts 27
- distance bonding 149–51
- dramatic dialogue, cohesive ties 9
- Dressler, W. 11, 203
- drift, semantic 54
- Edmondson, W. 30, 201, 202
- ellipsis 5–6, 9, 74
weighting 83
- encoder/decoder 82, 203
- equivalence
category of lexical cohesion 9
syntactic 171–2, 176–7, 180, 181, 182
- errors, in language structure 209
- excessive repetition 134–6
- exophoric reference 71
- expansion see discoursal expansion; lexical expansion
- extra-textual features 197, 217, 272n
- Firth, J.R. 7, 197, 198
- flow charts 58
- form, in map of language 195–6, 199
- General Linguistic theory 207
- genre link with bonding 190 relation to structure 13, 29
- given–new relationships, effect 138–41
- glosses 241
- grammar and discourse 211–13
in map of language 195–6, 207
structure 201
tagmemic 28
- grammatical categories, ranking 214–16
- Grimes, J. 272
- Halliday, M.A.K. 4–10, 14, 17, 52, 71, 73, 111, 137, 139, 205, 225, 239 map and theory of language 194–201, 205, 207, 214, 215, 216
- Harris, Z. 27, 28, 162, 171–2, 181
- Hasan, R. 4–10, 11, 14–16, 17, 52, 71, 73, 205, 225, 239
- hyponymic repetition 69–70
- hyponymy, category of lexical cohesion 8
- ideational/interpersonal components 137, 139
- identity chains 14–16
- information checking 236–7
- instantial cohesive ties 9
- instantial meaning 8
- intelligibility/unintelligibility 152–3, 209, 215
- interaction
by reader 221–2
in map of language 199–201, 210, 211, 212, 217, 221–2 relation to monologue 202
- interactive/autonomous planes 111, 137
- interpersonal/ideational components 137, 139
- intertextuality of an oeuvre 31–4
- interviews, cohesive ties 9
- introducer 84
- isolated segments 23
- language
map 194–201, 206–8, 210–20
theory 187–220
- lexical chains see chains
- lexical cohesion 5, 6–10
- lexical expansion 170, 174, 175, 177, 179, 180, 181–2
- lexical item(s) 71, 266g boundaries 271n
- lexical reduction 170–1, 175
- lexical relations 7–8 permitting repetition 51–75
- lexical repetition 17
- lexical substitution 171, 180
- lexical transference 171, 179–80
- lexis connection with text 217 in map of language study 195–6, 206–8 teaching 240–1
- link(s) 36–41, 51–2, 91, 266g
identification 81–4
operation 162–83
recognition by reader 222
- link triangle 57
and complex paraphrase 64–8
- McCarthy, M. 53, 54, 63, 166–7, 218
- map of language 194–201, 206–8, 210–20
- marginal sentences 43–5, 105–13, 266g
- matched clauses 17
- Matching relations 17–18, 188

- matrices 84–90, 96–9, 257, 271–2n
 meaning 198
   instantial 8
 meronymy, category of lexical cohesion 8, 180 metaphors, for text organization 26–48, 75 mistakes in language structure 209 modal choice, effect 136–8 modifiers 72–3 monologue 202–6
 morpheme, relation to sentence 214–16
 morphophonemics 207 mutual paraphrase 62
- naming, category of lexical cohesion 9
 narrative episodes and peaks 210 nature of text 188
 near-synonymy 6
 net(s) 253, 254, 256, 267g creation 91–4 properties of bonds 125–61
   significance 100–24 networks 21–3, 92, 190–1
 new–given relationships, effect 138–41 non-narrative texts 76–99, 189–93 note-taking, in careful reading 225–6
- oeuvre* 31–4, 43
 open-set/closed system patterns 207 oral narrative, cohesive ties 9 organization 4–5, 126, 267g contribution of cohesion 11 effect of cohesion 13–14
   metaphor 26–48, 75
   vs. structure 193–4
 orthography, in map of language 195–6 outline languages 272n overlay languages 272n
- paragraphs 28
 parallelism 167–83
 paraphrase 61–8
   complex 64–8, 83, 267g
   simple 62–4, 267g
   simple mutual, weighting 83 partial paraphrase 62–3
   weighting 83
 part-to-whole relation see meronymy passive vs. active voice 136, 181 patterning, patterns 29–30, 76–99, 126
   contribution of cohesion 13–14
   interpretation 43–8 representation 41–2
 personal pronouns 71–2
 phase structure rules 29
 Phillips, M. 21–5, 188
 phonic substance 217, 272n phonology, in map of language 195–6, 200, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211
 Pike, K.L. 27, 28, 214
 polysemy 54
 pronouns choice 203
   demonstrative 72–3 personal 71–2 reference items 5
   substitution 175, 179, 181
- quick vs. careful reading 225–6
 Quirk, R. 4
- ranking of grammatical categories 214–16
 readers active role 221–3 creativity, relation to bonding 152–5 reading 221–45
 redundancy (excessive repetition) 134–6 reference 5, 9, 71 references, bibliographical, use for research 33–5, 36, 43
 referents (co-reference repetition) 69–70 reiteration 6–8 relevant sentences, identification 226–31 renegotiation 53–4 repetition 8, 17–20, 51–75, 268g
   complex 55–6, 60, 268g
   excessive 134–6 relation to replacement 167 showing relatedness of text 35–40
   simple 52–4, 59, 83, 268g
   and writing 242–5 repetition clusters 24, 188–9 repetition links 36–41
   identification 81–4
 repetition matrix, construction 84–90 repetition nets see net(s) repetition patterning see patterning, patterns replacement by addition 20 replacement(s) 18–20, 268g relation to repetition 167 reported interview, cohesive ties 9
 Rumelhart, D.E. 28

- Saussure, F. de 196
 scanning 224, 226
 Schön, D. 27
 scientific/academic texts
   collocation 21–5
   organization 31–2
   patterns of repetition 76–99
 segments 23
 semantic drift 54
 semantic relations 5–6 semblance, category of lexical cohesion 9 sense, of a text 231–5 sentence(s) 268g common ground 45–8
   metaphor for text 26–30 relationships, effect of cohesion 12–13 relation to morpheme 214–16 relevant, identification 226–31 see also central sentences: marginal sentences; signalling sentences sequenced clauses 17
 sequential segments 23 signalling sentences 105, 108 signified and signifier, in map of language 196
 similarity chains 14–16 simple paraphrase see paraphrase, simple simple partial paraphrase, weighting 83 simple repetition see repetition, simple Sinclair, J. McH. 30, 54, 71, 111, 137, 155, 193, 199, 201
 situation and substance 195–6, 199, 272n skimming 224, 229, 233 sonnet, cohesive ties 9 speech, relationship to writing 211 story grammarians 28–9 Stotsky, S. 10, 56, 244 structure 26–30, 202–3, 269g
   vs. organization 193–4 subordination/co-ordination categories 28 substance and situation 195–6, 199, 272n substitution 5–6, 9, 17, 269g lexical 171, 180 pronoun 71–3, 175, 179, 181
   weighting 83
 substitution links 71–5 summarization 160
   see also abridgement(s) superordinate repetition 69–70 symmetrical replacement 19–20
 symmetry 202, 271n
 synonymy 6, 8, 63
 synoptic segments 23
 syntactic equivalence 171–2, 176–7, 180, 181, 182
 syntax 209, 210–11
 tagmemic grammar 28
 teaching of lexis 240–1 text 269g claims about its nature 188–93 getting the sense 231–5 structure vs. organization 193–4
   vs. discourse 196–7, 270n textbooks see academic/scientific texts text-forming repetition 56–62 text organization see academic/scientific texts; organization textual component 137, 139
 textual items 71 texture 4–5 theory of language 187–220 tie(s) 269g
   vs. link(s) 51–2
 topic closing 118–24
 topic-controlling sentences 142–8 topic opening 118–24
 Trabasso, T. 92, 190, 245 transcribed interview, cohesive ties 9 transformational generative grammar, application to study of text 28
 transformations, transforms 162, 172, 207 unintelligibility/intelligibility 152–3, 209, 215 utterances 200–1, 209
 van Dijk, T.A. 13, 27, 28
 voice choice, effect 136
 Widdowson, H.G. 11, 30, 202
 Winter, E.O. 12, 16–20, 30, 53, 126, 162, 178, 188, 202, 216, 220, 225 writer creativity, and bonding 155–9 writing implications for 221–45 relationship to speech 211 and repetition 242–5