

Contents

1. Into the Abyss: Germany under Allied Occupation, 1945–46	1
2. Germany Is Set on a New Course: The Founding of Two States, 1947–1949	19
3. The Federal Republic Orientates to the West: Western Integration and the “Economic Miracle” in the Adenauer Era, 1949–1963	37
4. Hegemony Against the Will of the People: The German Democratic Republic, 1949–1961	61
5. From Stagnation to Take-Off, and from Ludwig Erhard to the Grand Coalition, 1963–1969	73
6. After the Building of the Wall: Stabilisation of the SED State by Means of Force under Walter Ulbricht, 1961–1971	89
7. The Republic in Transition: The New Policy Towards the East and Commitment to Reform in the Brandt Era, 1969–1974	103
8. The Crisis Years: Political Strains and Their Solutions During the Period of the Schmidt/Genscher Government, 1974–1982	119
9. The Dictatorship’s Deceptive Facade of Normality: GDR under Honecker from the 1970’s Onwards	141

10. A Change of Government in Bonn: The Christian Democrat–Liberal Coalition under Helmut Kohl from 1982	167
11. The Collapse of the SED Dictatorship and the Fall of the Wall in 1989	189
12. The Unanticipated Reunification: The New Course for Germany and International Reaction to It, 1989–90	221
13. In Retrospect	265
Bibliography	279