

'With Global Migration, Elizabeth Mavroudi and Caroline Nagel provide a much-needed textbook for the study of one of the most important topics of our time. Their multidisciplinary approach offers comprehensive insights into the global patterns, politics, and practices of migration. A product of and for the classroom, the book is engaging and highly accessible to students.'

Harald Bauder, PhD Professor, Graduate Program in Immigration and Settlement Studies (ISS) and Department of Geography, Ryerson University, Canada

'An impressively comprehensive account of one of the world's most important geographical phenomena—the movement of people across borders. Global Migration is a must-read for any serious student of migration, and will appeal to a wide range of social science disciplines and degree programmes.'

Russell King, Professor of Geography, University of Sussex; Visiting Professor of Migration Studies (and former Willy Brandt Guest Professor), Malmö University, Sweden

'This is an invaluable guide to understanding global migration. Beginning with a historical overview of global migration from the sixteenth century onwards, the book then focuses on labour migration, migration and development, refugees, state regulation, citizenship and integration, and migrant lives and identities. The book engages with a wide range of ideas and examples in illuminating and compelling ways. Particularly impressive in the clarity of its multi-disciplinary approach, the book provides an excellent guide for both students and a wider readership interested in learning more about the complex and multi-faceted nature of migration and how it shapes our world.'

Alison Blunt, Professor of Geography, Queen Mary, University of London, UK

Global Migration provides a clear, concise, and well-organized discussion of historical patterns and contemporary trends of migration, while guiding the reader through an often difficult and politicized topic. Aimed primarily at undergraduate and Master's students, the text encourages the reader to reflect on economic processes, politics, and immigrant lives, and raises debates about inclusion, exclusion, and citizenship. The text critically highlights the global character of contemporary migration and the importance of historical context to current processes and emphasizes the role of gender, race, and national ideologies in shaping migration experiences.

Using over a decade of their own insight in teaching undergraduate migration courses in the US and the UK, and the knowledge and understanding of the subject they have acquired as migration researchers, the authors offer an accessible and student-friendly manner for readers to understand and explore the complex issue of migration. The book features numerous international case studies, a chapter dedicated to the perspective of the immigrants themselves, as well as key terms and a list of further readings at the end of each chapter.

Both theoretically and empirically informed, Global Migration examines the subject in an holistic and expansive way. It will equip students with an understanding of the complex issues of migration and serve as a guide for instructors in structuring their courses and in identifying important bodies of scholarly research on migration issues.

Elizabeth Mavroudi is a Lecturer in Human Geography in the Department of Geography at Loughborough University, UK.

Caroline Nagel is an Associate Professor of Geography at the University of South Carolina, USA.

MIGRATION / DEMOGRAPHY / GEOGRAPHY

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group
www.routledge.com

Cover image: © Sebastiao Salgado/Amazonas/nbpictures

an informa business

ISBN 978-0-415-68387-6

9 780415 683876

Routledge titles are available as eBook editions in a range of digital formats

Contents

List of figures	xi
List of tables	xiii
List of plates	xv
List of boxes	xvii
Acknowledgements	xix
1 MAKING SENSE OF GLOBAL MIGRATION	1
Introduction	1
What counts as migration?	4
Why does migration matter?	8
In what sense is migration global?	14
Theoretical perspectives on migration	15
Overview of the book	21
Key terms in this chapter	24
Further reading	24
2 GLOBAL MIGRATION IN HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE	28
Introduction	28
Migration and the emergence of a European-centred world economy	28
Migration and socioeconomic change in early modern Europe	30
Migration and the colonial economy	31
Migration and the Industrial Revolution	35
Migration and the upheavals of the 20th century	41
Migrations in the post-World War II era	44
Economic restructuring and a shifting migration system at the end of the 20th century	46
Conclusions	51
Key terms in this chapter	53
Further reading	53

3	MIGRANT LABOUR IN THE ECONOMY	57
	Introduction	57
	Matching workers to jobs: skills, education, and qualifications	58
	Immigrant social capital in the labour market	59
	Employer expectations, stereotyping, and segmented labour markets	65
	The role of the state in shaping an 'unskilled' immigrant labour force	69
	Labour market segmentation and skilled migration	73
	Recovering migrant agency	79
	Conclusions	81
	Key terms in this chapter	83
	Further reading	83
4	MIGRATION AND DEVELOPMENT	91
	Introduction	91
	What is development?	92
	Migration and development: the view from the Global North	94
	Migration and development: the view from the Global South	97
	Evaluating migrants as agents of development	104
	Conclusions	110
	Key terms in this chapter	112
	Further reading	112
5	REFUGEES	118
	Introduction	118
	Refugees in historical perspective	120
	Defining refugees in the Cold War era	123
	Refugee crises and the politics of asylum since the Cold War	125
	Refugee politics in the Global South	137
	Refugee experiences	140
	Conclusions	143
	Key terms in this chapter	145
	Further reading	145
6	IMMIGRATION CONTROL AND BORDER POLITICS	151
	Introduction	151
	Entry policies and border control in historical perspective	153
	Theorizing immigration control in contemporary liberal democracies	156
	Migration management and the proliferation of migrant categories	159
	The securitization of migration	161
	Rethinking the geography of borders: interior surveillance and the off-shoring of immigration control	166

Conclusions	170
Key terms in this chapter	172
Further reading	172
7 THE POLITICS OF CITIZENSHIP AND INTEGRATION	178
Introduction	178
Conceptualizing citizenship and integration	179
Citizenship and integration in national contexts	183
The opening up of societal membership	188
Citizenship closure	191
Uneven landscapes of citizenship and integration	195
Conclusions	198
Key terms in this chapter	199
Further reading	199
8 MIGRANT IDENTITIES, MOBILIZATIONS, AND PLACE-MAKING PRACTICES	205
Introduction	205
Immigrant experiences through the lens of Assimilation Theory	206
Immigrant lives through the lens of 'difference'	209
Migrant transnationalism and the formation of diasporas	218
Conclusions	223
Key terms in this chapter	224
Further reading	224
Index	230