

CONTENTS

EDITORS' PREFACE

I. BASIC PRINCIPLES

- 1.1 Introductory 1
- 1.2 The goals of linguistic theory 7
- 1.3 The independence of grammar 18

2. SYNTAX: I

(Syntactic Structures, 1957)

- 2.1 Introductory 22
- 2.2 Phrase structure grammar 24
- 2.3 Limitations of phrase structure grammar 28
- 2.4 Transformational rules 35

3. SYNTAX: II

(Aspects of the Theory of Syntax, 1965)

- 3.1 Introductory 43
- 3.2 Categories and relations 43
- 3.3 Syntactic features and context-sensitive rules 46
- 3.4 Deep structures and grammatical transformations 55

4. PHONOLOGY

- 4.1 Introductory 69
- 4.2 The role of the phonological component 79
- 4.3 Phones and phonemes 81
- 4.4 Invariance and linearity conditions 83
- 4.5 Cyclic ordering of phonological rules 86
- 4.6 The abstractness of phonological representations 92

5. SYNTAX AND SEMANTICS

5.1	Introductory	101
5.2	Formal and semantic features in language	107
5.3	The boundaries of syntax and semantics	113
5.4	Degrees of grammaticalness	115
5.5	The role of selectional rules	120
5.6	Some additional problems of semantic theory	123

6. LANGUAGE ACQUISITION

6.1	Introductory intro	127
6.2	Experimental approaches exp	129
6.3	Rationalist and empiricist views	134
6.4	Criticism of reinforcement theory reinforce?	136
6.5	Formal and substantive universals	139
6.6	Descriptive and explanatory theories	142
6.7	Conclusion concl	147

7. LANGUAGE TEACHING

7.1	Introductory	149
7.2	Implications for language teaching	152

BIBLIOGRAPHY

160