

PART I
EV	The Middle-Class Mother Box 8
EV	Mother Power and Mother Yoga 110
EV	Mother, Citizenship, Power and Conscience Critiquing 248
Ack Contents
EV	Notes 382
EV	Index 351

Years go by while a person labors over a book like this, about six years in this case, a significant chapter in a lifetime. I am extremely grateful to those who supported me along the way, making the often solitary journey less lonely.

Acknowledgments ix

This project has been generously supported by the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse, the College of Liberal Arts (CLA) and my home department, Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. A CLA Sabbatical Grant, a UW-La Crosse Faculty Research Grant, a UW-La Crosse Faculty Development Grant, a CLA Small Grant, crucial release time from Roots of Modern Motherhood: constant encouragement in my department, Early America and the Nineteenth Century tank Dean Rathann Benson and my department chair, Deb Hoskins. At an institution with a heavy teaching load, I also appreciate the support of my department chair, who asks her, "What do you really do?"

1 Inventing a New Role for Mothers 11
2 Contradictions of Moral Motherhood: with the dean to make it happen. Deb's colleagues are 32
3 Medicinalizing the Maternal Body 49

I also appreciate the support of Anna Appel, whose work I have admired for many years and whose perceptive questions, and kind encouragement of this project came at a critical time. Thanks, too, to Andrea O'Reilly and the Motherhood Initiative for Research and Community Involvement (MIRCI), Andrea's lead 4 Science, Expertise, and Advice to Mothers 77 nurtured my thinking about motherhood for more than a decade. Dr. Appel's and Dr. O'Reilly's 5 Grand Designs: Uplifting and Controlling the Mothers 103 scholars who have contributed to the collective 6 Modern Reproduction: The Fit and Unfit Mother 129 work have done them some justice. 7 Mothers' Resilience and Adaptation in Modern America 150 historical writing, and to Norman Rosenberg, Peter Richards, Linda Korn, and Emily Rosenberg, who first taught me how to think historically. I thank also for the expertise of Leslie Kiffmeyer, my editor at Rutgers University Press, who saw the potential of this book immediately and supported its development along the way.

PART III

Mothers of Invention: World War II to the Present

8	The Middle-Class Wife-and-Mother Box	173
9	Mother Power and Mother Angst	210
10	Mothers' Changing Lives and Continuous Caregiving	247
	Conclusion	280
	Notes	287
	Index	321