

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xi
1. Introduction	1
1.1. Overview	2
1.2. Individualism vs. collectivism	5
1.3. Methodology	9
1.4. The existence of moral rights	11
1.5. Terminology	14
2. A Lockean Framework of Rights	18
2.1. The right to one's own person	18
2.2. Property rights and rights of first arrival	21
2.3. Negative need rights	25
2.4. Autonomy, well-being, and rights	31
3. Rights and Harm	37
3.1. The doctrine of doing and allowing	37
3.2. Quinn's interpretation of the doctrine	39

CONTENTS

3.3. Foot's interpretation of the doctrine	42
3.4. The causal interpretation of the doctrine	45
3.5. The acting-on interpretation of the doctrine	50
3.6. A rights-based alternative	53
3.7. Three objections	56
3.8. Rights and intentions	59
 4. Liability to Defense	 65
4.1. The rights enforcement account	66
4.2. Defense against the innocent	69
4.3. Defense of the guilty	76
4.4. The defense liability principle	78
4.5. Three objections	85
4.6. Forfeiture	92
4.7. Montague and McMahan	96
 5. Necessity and Proportionality in Defense	 104
5.1. A defense of internalism	104
5.2. Necessary harm	109
5.3. Proportionate harm	116
5.4. Do the numbers count?	118
 6. Liberating Just War Theory from Double Effect	 122
6.1. The structure of my argument	123
6.2. PDE, MP, and rights	126
6.3. Quinn's defense of double effect	129
6.4. Recent attempts to improve upon Quinn	132
6.5. The restricting claims principle	136
6.6. Alleged support for a strongly discriminating principle	137
6.7. The irrelevance of weakly discriminating principles	145

CONTENTS

7. The Rights of Innocent Bystanders	148
7.1. Unauthorized violence	148
7.2. Excusable violence	150
7.3. Liability through assumed risk	153
7.4. Ex ante compensation	160
7.5. Justifiable infringements upon rights	165
8. How to Justify Waging War	169
8.1. The justifiable war principle	169
8.2. Is the justifiable war principle too demanding?	175
8.3. The flaws of traditional jus ad bellum	178
9. The Scope of Liability in War	183
9.1. Combatants and military personnel	183
9.2. Those who assist unjust aggressors	193
9.3. Munitions workers	198
9.4. Farmers and taxpayers	203
10. Citizenship and Liability	210
10.1. Agency and liability	211
10.2. Nonintervention and liability	220
11. Conclusions	232
Appendix: Need Rights and Compensation	237
Index	251