Contents

List of Figures and Tables viii

Notes on Contributors ix

1 The Cultural Turn, Sociology and Class Analysis
Fiona Devine and Mike Savage 1
Consciousness and imagery 4
Habitus and identity 10
The contributions 17
Conclusion 21
Notes 22

2 Social Stratification and Social Inequality: Models of Intersectionality and Identity
Floya Anthias 24
Terminological issues in the study of inequality 25
What is a social division? 27
Boundaries and hierarchies 28
The reductionist model: explaining ethnicity and class 31
The intersectionality model 32
Identity model 37
Displacing the identity problematic: narratives of location 41
Concluding remarks: implications for the study of social inequality 44

3 The Re-Branding of Class: Propertising Culture
Beverley Skeggs 46
Rhetoric and re-presentations 49
Academic responses 62
So what are the consequences of this? 64
Conclusion 66
Notes 67

4 Class and Culture in Germany
Michael Vester 69
Research questions and methodology 70
Conclusions 92
Notes 93

5 Local Habitus and Working-Class Culture
Mike Savage, Gaynor Bagnall and Brian Longhurst 95
The working class in British society 97
Research methods 102
Conclusions 119
Notes 121

6 Memory Magic: How a Working-Class Neighbourhood Became an Imagined Community and Class Started to Matter when it Lost its Base
Talja Blokland 123
Introduction 123
Telling stories: some preliminary notes 126
Tales of community: how "we" were all "the same" 127
Tales of distinction: how "we" compared to "them" 128
Change: the end of work and community as "we" knew it 133
Tales of marking borders: how class matters versus ethnicity 135
Practice of exclusion: how a working-class neighbourhood became an imagined community 137
Conclusion 138
Notes 138

7 Middle-Class Identities in the United States
Fiona Devine 140
Class consciousness and class identities 142
Researching the American and British middle classes 146
Originating from the middle classes 150
Being other than middle class 155
Conclusion 160
Notes 162

8 Social Change and Social Identity: Postmodernity, Reflexive Modernisation and the Transformation of Social Identities in Australia
Tim Phillips and Mark Western 163
Theories of post- and reflexive modernity 164
Towards a theory of identity 167
Research methods and analytic strategy 172
Changing patterns of social identification 174
Discussion and conclusions 182
Notes 185

9 Class Analysis: Beyond the Cultural Turn
Rosemary Crompton and John Scott 186
Methodological contrasts in class analysis 187
Taking culture (too) seriously 191
The contributions to this book 195
The strange problem of the baby and the bathwater 198
Notes 202

Bibliography 204

Index 221