

Table of Contents

Table of Contents	vii
Preface	ix
Introduction	xi
The Status of Dutch Literature in the 16th and 17th Centuries: Other Evidence	1
Paul Sellin, University of California, Los Angeles
Europe in the Eighteenth Century: Examples of International Literary Connections	25
Margriet Lacy, Butler University
Possibilities and Dangers of Aestheticism in Two Novels of Louis Couperus	33
Manfred Wolf, San Francisco State University
Foreign Models for the Postwar Poetic Development in the Low Countries	45
Hugo Brems, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven
The Bind of Double Metonymy	57
André Lefèvere, University of Texas, Austin
A Mirror for Translators	71
Leonard Nathan, University of California, Berkeley

- The Indonesian Connection: Dutch Literature
of the East Indies in Comparative Perspective* 83
Reinier Salverda, University College London
- Expressionism and New Objectivity:
German Trends in Dutch Literature* 109
Jaap Goedegebuure, Katholieke Universiteit Brabant
- The Second World War
in Dutch and German Literature* 123
Bernd Müller, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam
- Lucebert versus Breytenbach* 133
Jacques van der Elst, Potchefstroomse Universiteit
- Leon de Winter and Peter Handke:
Varieties of Postmodernism* 157
Anne Marie Musschoot, Rijksuniversiteit Gent
- A Mad Hatter's Tupperware Party: Postmodern
Tendencies in American and Dutch Poetry* 171
Wiljan van den Akker, Rijksuniversiteit Utrecht
- Dutch Literature in the World:
Diagnosis and Prognosis* 197
Johan P. Snapper, University of California, Berkeley