

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	ix
Abbreviations	xii
Guide to pronunciation	xvi
Preface	xvii
Map	xxvii
1. Introduction	1
Deep-rooted conflict	1
Peace-building challenge	8
Measuring success	11
2. The Bosnian Question	15
Balancing act	15
Ethno-national identities and rivalries	17
Brotherhood and unity	25
3. Disintegration	33
End of communism	33
Democratic dawn	38
Descent into war	44
4. War and peace	52
Self-determination, legitimacy and hostilities	52
Recognition and retribution	59
Peace-brokering amid ethnic cleansing	66
Getting to Dayton	73
5. Elections at any price	80
Peace or just a ceasefire?	80

CONTENTS

Contours of the settlement	85
Civilian mobilisation	92
Elections, pseudo-democracy and institutional paralysis	97
6. Overriding 'democracy' to implement Dayton	107
Changing course	107
Promoting 'moderates'	114
Building multi-ethnicity	121
Justice	130
Institution-building	142
Euro-Atlantic integration	153
7. Rhetoric and reality	165
Assessing the process	165
Limits of liberal peace-building	171
Dark side of democracy	177
8. Whither Bosnia?	184
Diplomatic autopilot	184
Zero-sum politics and ever-rising tension	193
Transitioning	201
Reforms and responsibility	209
Deadlock, decay and debt	216
Prospects	228
9. Changing the logic of Bosnian politics	241
Recognising failure	241
Salience of ethno-national security	247
Revisiting the Bosnian Question	253
10. Conclusion	266
Treating symptoms	266
Post-conflict to pre-conflict	271
Changing incentives	276
Notes	281
Bibliographical note	325
Index	335