

Contents

Institute of Geophysics of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic	2
Research staff, 2009	4
Research departments	6
Main research topics	7
Convergent plate margins: strong earthquake occurrence reveals magmatic plumbing system beneath volcanoes	8
Structure of continental mantle lithosphere	10
Refraction and wide-angle reflection experiments in central Europe – results of seismic modelling and possible tectonic implications	13
Strain coupling between mantle and crust within a transpressional arc system	14
Electromagnetic induction anomalies in Central Europe studied by approximate inverse techniques	16
Depth-recursive refraction tomography resolved the Eger Rift structures in West Bohemia and the low-velocity zone at KTB Site	18
Earthquake swarms in West Bohemia – Vogtland	20
Discovery of the first Quaternary maar in the Bohemian Massif	22
The mechanism of flow and fabric development in mechanically anisotropic trachyte lava	24
Tectonics and sedimentation in the Eger Graben: clues to the evolution of an incipient continental rift	26
Palaeodrainage systems of the Bohemian Cretaceous Basin and their relationship to basement tectonics	28
Earthquake rotational effects – a rediscovered sub-discipline of seismology	30
Perturbation approaches in seismic-wave propagation studies	32
Seismic methods help in natural gas and oil exploitation	34
Tidal modulation of temperature oscillations monitored in borehole Yaxcopoil (Yucatán, Mexico)	36
Experimental study of fly-ash migration under controlled water regime	38
Onset of formation of gas hydrates and their stability under permafrost in an environment of climatic change	39
Does geomagnetic activity affect the global surface temperature?	40
Long-term predictive assessments of solar and geomagnetic activities made on the basis of the close similarity between the solar inertial motions (SIMs) in the intervals 1840-1905 and 1980-2045	42
Research student supervision and co-supervision	44
University – level courses taught by instructors from the Institute of Geophysics	49
Observatories and mobile data acquisition systems	55
Studia Geophysica et Geodaetica	59
List of supported research projects running in 2008-2009	60
Professional events	62
Geopark Spořilov	62
Public outreach activities	63
International publications	64
The budget of the Institute of Geophysics	70