

Contents

Dedication	xi
Preface	xiii
Section 1: The Human Learner—What Research Tells Us	1
Chapter 1: Learning Is Not Easy (Especially When Others Make It So Hard)	3
Challenge 1	3
Challenge 2	4
What Is This Book About?	8
Chapter 2: An Introduction to Some “Familiar Terms”	9
Basic Vocabulary—The Terms of the Trade	9
Two Key Principles: Your Mantra as a Trainer (Instructor, Educator)	13
Live or Technology-Based: It’s All the Same	14
What’s in This Book and Why	15
Remember This	16
Chapter 3: The Human Learner	19
What Is Learning?	19
How We Learn: Senses, Filters, and Memory	21
What Does This Mean for the Learner ... and the Trainer?	27
Remember This	27
Section 2: What You Must Know to Be a Better Trainer	31
Chapter 4: Getting Learners to Learn	33
Different Types of Knowledge: Declarative and Procedural	36
Key Ingredients for Learning	40
Adapting for Differences in Ability, Prior Knowledge, and Motivation	44
Remember This	46

Chapter 5: Adult Learning Principles	49
Good Classes and Bad Classes	49
Four Key Adult Learning Principles	52
The Bottom Line on Adult Learning Principles	66
Remember This	67
Chapter 6: A Five-Step Model for Creating Terrific Training Sessions	71
Six Universal Principles From Research on Learning	72
A Universal Model for Structuring Any Learning Session	79
The Training Session Planning Session	84
The Training Session Scripting Sheet.....	87
Using the Five-Step Model to Retrofit Existing Training Sessions	94
Final Review of the Five-Step Model	95
Remember This	95
Chapter 7: Getting Learners to Remember	99
Metacognition: The Executive Learning Controls.....	100
Cognitive Strategies: How to Build Learning Faster, Better, Cheaper	105
Remember This	117
Section 3: Applying What You Have Learned—Making Learning
Research Work	119
Chapter 8: Training Approaches and a Cornucopia of Learning Activities.....	121
Four Major Types of Training.....	122
Pulling the Four Types of Training Together.....	125
25 Training Activities You Can Use	126
Summarizing the Activities	149
Closing the Door on This Active Chapter.....	149
Remember This	152
Chapter 9: Testing or Examining—What’s the Difference?	155
What Was That All About?	157
Testing Versus Exams	159
How Do I Go About Creating Tests?	163
Creating Tests	167
Remember This	174
Section 4: Training-Learning With Technology and Beyond	177
Chapter 10: Training and Technology.....	179
What Is Technology and What Does It Do for Learning?.....	180
Ideal Versus Real.....	181

What Can We Realistically Expect From the Use of Technology in Learning?	182
Should We Ignore Technology?	182
Caveat Emptor (Let the Buyer Beware)	183
Promises, Promises, Promises	191
Remember This	193
Chapter 11: Learning With Technology: Making It Work	197
Hit or Myth?	197
What Makes for Quality Online Learning?	199
Online Learning Is Not the First Decision You Make	202
Blended Learning	206
How Would You Blend?	206
Beyond Traditional Blended Learning	206
New Informal Learning Approaches	209
The Rise of Web 2.0	211
Integrating Web 2.0 Into Training	213
Resources and Examples: Ideas for Using New Media in Learning	213
The New Blended Learning and the Future of Training	213
Remember This	219
Closing Out on Learning With Technology: Making It Work	223
Section 5: Wrapping It Up	225
Chapter 12: Hit or Myth: What's the Truth?	227
The Bottom Line on Learning	237
Hit or Myth—A Final Match-Up	237
Chapter 13: Concluding Reflections on Telling Ain't Training	241
A Rapid Review of Telling Ain't Training	241
Something to Think About—Reflections From Carl Jung	244
Endnotes	247
About the Authors	283
Index	287