1 Introduction	1
Part I Basic Processes	13
2 Concepts: Representing Social Knowledge	15
What Are Concepts? 15 • Functions of Concepts 17 • Classification • Inferring Additional Attributes • Guiding Attention and Interpretation • Communication • Reasoning • Activating Concepts 21 • Stimulus Features • Salience • Priming • Chronic Accessibility • Goals • Structure of Concepts 25 • Classical View • Critique of the Classical View • Probabilistic View • Support for the Probabilistic View • Prototypes or Exemplars? • Critique of the Probabilistic View • Concepts as Theory Based • Support for the Theory-Based View • Critique of the Theory-Based View • Interconcept Organization 41 • Basic-Level Categories • Models of Representation 46 • Associative Network Models • Parallel-Constraint-Satisfaction Models • Summary 51
3 Heuristics: Rules of Thumb for Reasoning	53
History of Probabilistic Reasoning 54 • The Representativeness Heuristic 56 • Ignoring Prior Probabilities of Outcomes (Base-Rates) • Consensus as Base-Rate • Stereotypes as Base-Rates • The Dilution Effect • Ignoring Sample Size • Misconceptions of Chance • Belief in the Hot Hand • Failure to Understand Regression • The Conjunction Fallacy • Statistical Heuristics 77 • Factors That Influence the Choice of Heuristics 78 • Knowledge about the Domain • Clarity of the Sample Space in the Domain • Experience with the

Domain • Contextual Cues • Salience of Chance Factors
 • Assumptions about Communicative Intent • Predicting Single
 Events versus Long-Run Frequencies • Statistical Education •
The Availability Heuristic 89 • Ignoring Biases in Available Samples
 • Salience • Egocentric Biases • Ignoring Biases in Accessible
Cognitions • One-Sided Questions • Ease or Difficulty of Recruiting
 Examples • Explanation • Perseverance of Refuted Beliefs
 • Imagination • Anchoring and Adjustment 102 • Anchoring and
Social Judgment • Can We Overcome Biases due to the Availability
Heuristic and Anchoring? 105 • Careful Thinking and Use of Heuristics 106 • Summary 109

4 Determining What Is, What Was, and What Might Have Been: Hypothesis Testing, Covariation Detection, and Counterfactual Thinking 111

Hypothesis Testing 112 • The Positive Test Strategy • Hypothesis Confirmation in Evaluating Others • Biased Memory Search • Biased Evidence Seeking • Hypothesis Confirmation in Evaluating Oneself • Choosing versus Rejecting • Analyzing Reasons for Predictions •
Covariation Detection 124 • Assessing Covariations from 2×2 Tables • Illusory Correlations • Stereotype Formation through Illusory Correlation • Failure to Detect Actual Correlations • Accuracy in Covariation Detection • Explanation-Based Judgment 137 • Story Models in Jury Decision Making • Coherence of Explanations •
Counterfactual Thinking 143 • Event Normality • Closeness of the Counterfactual to the Actual Event • Exception versus Routine • Controllability • Action versus Inaction • Ease of Replicating Events Mentally • Functions of Counterfactual Thoughts • Summary 159

5 Memory: Reconstructing the Past 161

State of Mind When Encoding Events 161 • Expectancies and Interpretation • Expectancies and Attention • Expectancy-Congruent Information • Expectancy-Incongruent Information • Goals • Event Significance • State of Mind When Retrieving Events 174 • Expectancies and Retrieval • Theories about Stability and Change
 • Exaggerating the Consistency between the Past and the Present
 • Exaggerating the Difference between the Past and the Present

- The Hindsight Bias ▪ Goals ▪ Mood ▪ Mood-Congruent Memory ▪ Mood-Dependent Memory ▪ Source Memory 194
- Distinguishing Reality from Imagination ▪ Suggestion and False Memories ▪ Monitoring External Sources ▪ The Sleeper Effect ▪ Summary 208

6 Hot Cognition: The Impact of Motivation and Affect on Judgment 211

- Motivation 212 ▪ Directional Goals 212 ▪ Motivational versus Cognitive Accounts of Bias ▪ Outcome Dependency ▪ The Crucial Role of Arousal ▪ Self-affirmation ▪ Mechanisms for Motivated Reasoning ▪ Revisiting the Motivation versus Cognition Debate
- Normative Considerations ▪ Accuracy Goals 235 ▪ Deliberative and Implemental Mindsets ▪ Closure Goals 242 ▪ Affect 246 ▪ Mood-Congruent Judgment ▪ Mood as a Source of Priming ▪ Mood as Information ▪ The Affect Infusion Model ▪ Mood as a Determinant of Cognitive Strategies ▪ Mood and Persuasion ▪ Mood and Stereotyping ▪ Summary 262

7 Automatic Processes: Judgment and Behavior without Awareness, Intention, Control, or Effort 265

- Automatic versus Controlled Processes 265 ▪ Lack of Awareness 268 ▪ Failure of Introspection ▪ Implicit Memory ▪ Pitting Conscious Processes against Unconscious Ones ▪ Becoming Famous over Night ▪ Subliminal Perception ▪ Mere Exposure ▪ Individual Differences in Automatic Reactions ▪ Efficiency 288 ▪ Scarce Time ▪ Automatic Activation of Affect ▪ Scarce Resources ▪ Automatic and Controlled Processes in Attribution ▪ Ironic Processes in Thought Control ▪ Forming Automatic Reactions 308 ▪ Summary 308

Part II Basic Topics 311

8 Stereotypes 313

- What Are Stereotypes? 314 ▪ The Perceiver's Perspective 317 ▪ Stereotype Activation 317 ▪ Stereotypes Can Be Activated Automatically ▪ Individual Differences in Automatic Stereotype Activation ▪ Stereotype Activation Can Require Effort ▪ Stereotype

Activation Can Be Inhibited • Suppressed Stereotypes May Rebound • Stereotype Application 346 • Stereotypes Color the Meaning of Information about a Person • Differing Interpretations • Shifting Standards • Using Stereotypes in the Presence of Individuating Information • Ambiguous versus Unambiguous Information • Trait Judgments versus Behavioral Predictions • Mental Capacity and Stereotype Application • Motivated Application and Inhibition of Stereotypes • Serial versus Parallel Processing of Stereotypes and Individuating Information • The Target's Perspective 369 • Attributional Ambiguity • Stereotype Threat • Stereotype Maintenance and Change 380 • The Contact Hypothesis • Subtyping Counterstereotypic Individuals • Summary 392

9 Knowledge about Others' Attitudes, Behavior, and Personality 395

Knowledge about the Prevalence and Distribution of Attributes in the Population 396 • False Consensus • Pluralistic Ignorance • False Consensus versus Pluralistic Ignorance • Knowledge of Social Distributions • Knowledge about the Consistency of Traits 415 • The Actual Consistency of Traits • Cross-situational Consistency Is Low • The Power of Aggregation • Accuracy from Thin Slices of Behavior • Beliefs about the Consistency of Traits • The Fundamental Attribution Error • Beliefs about Cross-situational Consistency of Behavior • Spontaneous Trait Inference • How Could We Be So Wrong? • Redefining Traits • Summary 449

10 The Self 451

Dimensions of Self-knowledge 452 • Self-schemas • Processing Information about the Self • Processing Information about Others • The Working Self-concept • Self-esteem • Self-esteem and the Representation of Self-knowledge • Self-esteem and Self-serving Strategies • Organization of Self-knowledge 468 • Self-complexity • Self-guides • Self-discrepancies and Emotional Vulnerability • Self-discrepancies and Interpersonal Thought and Tactics • Which Self-knowledge Do We Seek? 483 • Self-enhancement • Self-verification • The Self in Relation to Others 494 • Using the Self to Judge Others • Using Others to Judge the Self • The

Self-evaluation Maintenance Model ▪ The Impact of Role Models on the Self ▪ Self-regulation 507 ▪ Self-regulation Is Adaptive ▪ Self-regulation Is Effortful ▪ Summary 510

Part III A Cross-cultural Perspective 513

11 Culture 515

East-West Differences 518 ▪ Independent and Interdependent Construals of the Self ▪ The Independent Self ▪ The Interdependent Self ▪ The Structure and Contents of Self-knowledge ▪ Relative Richness of Self-representation ▪ Global versus Contextualized Self-descriptions ▪ Dispositional versus Situational Attributions ▪ Choice and Dissonance ▪ Self-enhancement versus Self-criticism ▪ North-South Differences in the United States 549 ▪ Culture of Honor ▪ Implications for Social Cognition 556 ▪ Summary 558
