

Contents

Introduction	xi
1. From the Shores of Africa The Forerunners	3
2. American Bondage, American Freedom Shaping the Struggle	24
3. Rebels, Resistant, and Outliers Building the River's Power	52
4. Symptoms of Liberty and Blackhead Signposts David Walker and Nat Turner	75
5. Many Thousands Crossing Over Two Decades of Struggle in the South (1830–1850)	101
6. Strange River in Canaan The Paradoxical Search for Freedom in the North	117
7. Beyond the North Star Testing the Great Tradition of Black Protest	140
8. A Ferment of Fugitives The Confluence of Northern and Southern Struggle	154
9. Called to Go Forward Protest, Emigration, and Radical Destiny	172
10. On Jordan's Stormy Banks The Rip Tide of Black Struggle (1855–1860)	195
11. The Blood-Red Ironies of God Civil War, Black Freedom, and the Dialectics of Transformation	219
12. "We Are Coming Up" The Harsh and Uncertain Path Toward a New Nation	242

13.	Slavery Chain Done Broke at Last Claiming "The Land of the Free"	258
14.	The Challenge of the Children Creating a New Vision of America	277
15.	Black Hope, Black Soldiers, and Black Codes The Clashing Versions of Justice	298
16.	The Struggle Ends, the Struggle Begins There Is a River	318
	Acknowledgments	333
	Notes	339
	Bibliography	385
	Index	403