

Contents

Authors' note	ix
1 Meet our friends . . .	1
2 Academic survival skills: standing on your own two feet	6
2.1 Introduction	6
2.2 Lectures and tutorials	7
2.2.1 Teaching mash-ups	7
2.2.2 What do your lecturers want from you?	8
2.2.3 The students who drive everyone mad	9
2.3 Communicating with academics	9
2.4 Note-taking	11
2.4.1 When will I be taking notes?	11
2.4.2 Lectures	12
2.4.3 Handwritten or typed?	12
2.4.4 Secret code	12
2.4.5 Get visual!	16
2.4.6 Consolidation	17
2.5 Time management	18
2.6 Avoiding procrastination, and time management	22
2.6.1 What happens when something unexpected happens?	22
2.6.2 Time management and revision	23
2.6.3 Time management and coursework	23
2.7 Working with others	24
2.8 Staying in love with law	25
3 Your guide to the English legal system: order order	28
3.1 Introduction	28
3.2 How has our legal system developed?	29

3.2.1	The common law system	29
3.2.2	Equity	30
3.2.3	Common law v equity	31
3.3	Common v civil system of law	32
3.4	Who creates the law and what are the different sources of law?	33
3.4.1	Public v private	33
3.4.2	Civil v criminal	33
3.4.3	European law	34
3.4.4	Human rights law	35
3.5	Sources of law	37
3.6	Legislation: primary source	38
3.6.1	Statutory interpretation	42
3.6.1.1	The literal rule	42
3.6.1.2	The golden rule	43
3.6.1.3	The mischief rule	45
3.6.1.4	The purposive approach	47
3.7	Case law: primary source	49
3.7.1	Law reports	49
3.7.2	Hierarchy of law reports	53
3.7.3	Print v online	53
3.7.4	The doctrine of judicial precedent	54
3.7.5	The operation of the doctrine of judicial precedent: ratio and obiter	55
3.7.6	Hierarchy of the courts	56
3.7.7	What can happen to a precedent?	58
3.7.8	Top tips on how to read a case	59
3.8	Journals: secondary source	59
3.9	Books: secondary source	61
3.10	Encyclopedias: secondary source	61
4	Legal research: digging deeper	63
4.1	Introduction	63
4.2	What will you be looking for?	64
4.3	Books on the shelf or online?	65
4.4	Using Google and free resources	66
4.5	Keeping up to date: current awareness	68
4.6	Legal databases	69
4.6.1	There are so many! How do I know which one to choose?	72
4.6.2	Feeling lazy?	72
4.6.3	What type of research might I be doing?	73
4.6.4	Simple v complex searching	74
4.6.5	Choosing keywords	75
4.6.6	Natural language v connectors	76

4.6.7	Master the commands	76
4.6.8	And/or	77
4.6.9	Phrase searching	77
4.6.10	Truncation	77
4.6.11	Wild card	78
4.6.12	Proximity	78
4.6.13	Let's see this in action!	79
4.6.14	What do you think of the research strategies taken by Brodie and Ashwin?	81
4.7	Keeping a record of your research	81
4.7.1	Tools to help	82
4.7.2	In practice	83
5	Legal writing: weaning off 'like' and 'innit'	85
5.1	Introduction: where to begin and some initial advice	85
5.1.1	A Goldilocks problem	87
5.2	The first challenge: prepare and plan	90
5.2.1	Popular approaches to planning	90
5.2.2	Problem question	92
5.2.3	Essay question	93
5.2.4	Example answer plans	95
5.3	The second challenge: preparing to write	96
5.3.1	To whom are you writing?	96
5.3.2	What are you writing?	98
5.3.2.1	The essay question	98
5.3.2.2	Guide to answering essay questions	99
5.3.2.3	The problem question	100
5.3.2.4	Guide to answering a problem question	103
5.3.2.5	Answering questions in exams	104
5.3.3	Using your plan of action and research to write	104
5.3.4	Legal writing demystified	104
5.3.5	Editing	107
5.4	The third challenge: understanding the feedback	108
6	Referencing and plagiarism: borrow don't steal	117
6.1	Introduction	117
6.2	So what exactly is plagiarism?	118
6.2.1	Sounds complicated – are there different types?	119
6.2.2	Not convinced? Four facts for would-be plagiarists	120
6.2.3	University plagiarism policies	120
6.2.4	Plagiarism and the legal profession	120
6.2.5	Plagiarism and the real world	121
6.2.6	OK, OK, I get it but . . .	122

6.3	I understand, so how do I actually do this referencing?	123
6.4	Strange citation	123
6.4.1	Citing a case?	126
6.4.2	Citing a piece of legislation?	126
6.4.3	Citing a journal article?	126
6.4.4	Citing a book?	127
6.4.5	Citing a chapter in an edited book?	127
6.4.6	Citing from an encyclopedia?	127
6.4.7	Citing a web resource?	127
6.4.8	Citing an online-only journal?	127
6.4.9	Citing a newspaper?	128
6.5	Test yourself!	128
6.6	Are there other things I can do to avoid plagiarism?	130
6.7	Final thoughts	132
7	Mooting and public speaking: Speaker's Corner	133
7.1	Introduction	133
7.2	Why moot?	135
7.3	What competitions and how do you get involved?	136
7.4	Mooting basics	137
7.5	What makes a good mooter?	138
7.6	Give me the basics: how does it work?	138
7.7	Who does what?	139
7.7.1	Senior	139
7.7.2	Junior	139
7.8	Presented with a moot problem	140
7.9	Working through a moot problem	143
7.9.1	Read through the moot problem carefully	143
7.9.2	What was the decision of the lower court and how to start preparing your arguments?	145
7.9.3	Which side are you on?	147
7.9.4	Research	147
7.9.4.1	Getting to grips with the legal authorities you have been given	147
7.9.5	The research steps for Ground One	151
7.9.6	The research steps for Ground Two	153
7.9.7	Skeleton arguments	153
7.9.8	Forget about the trees	156
7.9.8.1	Here are some answers to questions we know you will be thinking about	156
7.9.9	The speech	158
7.9.9.1	Don't be distracting	158
7.9.9.2	Be persuasive	159

7.9.10	Key phrases	159
7.9.10.1	Opening the moot (Senior Appellant)	159
7.9.10.2	Establishing if the judge wants to know more about a case	160
7.9.10.3	Referring to authorities	160
7.9.10.4	Dealing with judicial interventions	160
7.9.10.5	Running out of time?	160
7.9.10.6	Finishing your submission	161
7.9.11	Competitiveness at a moot	161
7.9.12	How to look good mooting	162
7.9.13	Look into my eyes	162
7.9.14	Modes of address	162
7.9.15	Saying it right	163
7.9.16	At the moot: where to sit	164
7.9.17	Judicial interventions	164
8	Employability: learn to earn	167
8.1	Introduction	167
8.2	Juggle it!	168
8.3	Own it!	168
8.4	Lost in translation?	169
8.5	Sell it!	171
8.6	Take it!	172
8.7	Apply it!	172
8.7.1	Application form top tips	173
8.8	Watch it!	173
8.9	Give back!	174
8.10	Employ it!	175
9	Revision and exams: law, eat, sleep, repeat	177
9.1	Introduction	177
9.2	When are your exams?	179
9.3	What format will they take?	179
9.4	Planning for revision	180
9.4.1	Revision calendar top tips	180
9.4.2	Revision strategies . . . or what do you actually do when revising?	181
9.4.3	What to revise?	183
9.4.3.1	Your module handbook	184
9.4.3.2	Your lecture and tutorial notes	184
9.4.3.3	Peer speculation	184
9.4.4	Should I buy revision books?	184
9.5	View from the examiner	185

9.6	Stress attack	187
9.7	Exam top tips	187
9.7.1	Before the exam	187
9.7.2	Deciding which questions to answer	187
9.7.3	The planning process	188
9.7.4	Writing your answer	188
9.7.5	After the exam	189
Index		191