

Obsah

Preface	7
I. Education in the Czech Republic with an emphasis on the inclusive approach	11
1 Determinants of inclusion in primary education	13
1.1 Integration versus inclusion	13
1.2 Factors affecting the success of integration/inclusion	16
2 An inclusive environment as a space for the education of foreign students	25
2.1 Description and education objectives of the school	29
2.2 School and the society	31
3 Assistant teacher in inclusive education	35
3.1 Definition of assistant teacher	36
3.2 Qualification of assistant teacher	38
3.3 Socio-demographic structure of assistant teachers	40
3.4 Target groups of assistant teachers	41
3.5 Structure of activities of assistant teachers	42
3.6 Educational and professional needs of assistant teachers	43
4 Educational diagnostics in an inclusive school	47
4.1 Educational diagnostics	48
4.2 Educational diagnostics and an inclusive school	50
4.3 Conditions for inclusion and educational diagnostics in Czech legislation	53
4.4 Teacher personality – diagnostics	56
5 Educational communication in an inclusive environment of primary school	61
5.1 Transformation of Czech schools	61
5.2 Inclusive school as an environment reflecting the reformist ideas	66
5.3 Specifics of communication with integrated students	71
6 Inclusive education of students with intellectual disability	75
6.1 Definition of intellectual disability	75
6.2 Students with intellectual disability in the process of education	76
6.3 Students with mild intellectual disability (MID)	76
6.4 Students with moderate intellectual disability (MoID)	77
6.5 Students with severe intellectual disability (SID)	79

6.6	Students with profound intellectual disability (PID)	80
6.7	Support measures in educating students with intellectual disability	81
6.8	Degrees of support	82
6.9	Experience with educating students with intellectual disability in elementary schools – conclusions of the research	83
7	Some aspects of inclusive education in physical education in the 1 st stage of elementary school	91
7.1	Education in the area of physical education in the EU and other countries	92
7.2	Objectives and tasks of physical education in the current educational system in the Czech Republic	94
7.3	Educational objectives and educational tasks of physical education	94
7.4	Training objectives and training tasks of physical education	96
7.5	Inclusive issues in physical education in primary school	100
8	Writing literacy as part of reading literacy in primary school pupils in an inclusive environment	105
9	Inclusive perspective of health education aimed at younger school-aged children	117
9.1	Man and Health	121
10	Research on the attitudes of the main actors in the educational process to inclusive education	129
10.1	Introduction	129
10.2	Research methodology	130
10.3	Results of the research study	134
10.3.1	Attitudes of parents to inclusive education	134
10.3.2	The teacher as a significant part of inclusive education in Czech schools	147

II. Education in the Slovak Republic with an emphasis on the inclusive approach		191
11	Inclusive education in the Slovak Republic	193
11.1	Inclusion in general	194
11.2	Inclusive education in the Slovak Republic	198
11.3	Promotion of inclusion	208
11.4	Research studies aimed at inclusion in the Slovak Republic	213

III. Education in the Slovenia with an emphasis on the inclusive approach	229
12 Historical and philosophical aspects of education in Slovenia	231
12.1 Three periods in the development of education policy within the borders of present-day Slovenia	231
13 The Process of Implementing Inclusion in Slovenia	239
Abstract	239
13.1 A look into the past: Segregation stimulated the development of parallel education systems for “normal” and for “handicapped” children	240
13.2 The transition period – the possibility of choice begins to build a bridge from segregation through integration to inclusion	242
13.2.1 Legislative foundations for inclusion of SEN children	243
13.2.2 Changing the professional terminology	244
13.2.3 Groups of children with special needs that are defined within the law	244
13.2.4 The concept of placing children with special needs in the continuum of educational programmes	248
13.2.5 The continuum of programmes to which children with SEN are enrolled	249
13.2.6 An individualised programme as the right of children with SEN and the guide to performers of educational programme	259
13.2.7 Early childhood intervention	261
13.2.8 The aims and principles in education of children with SEN	262
13.3 Instead of conclusion: Implementing inclusion as opportunity for invigoration of education	263
14 Readiness of Schoolteachers and Preschool Teachers as the Foundation of Implementation of Inclusion	265
Abstract	265
14.1 Introduction	266
14.2 Definition of inclusion	266
14.2.1 Some conditions for the implementation of inclusion in educational practice	267
14.2.2 Teacher as the fundamental factor of implementation of inclusion	268
14.3 Definition of the research problem	269

14.4	Research methodology	270
14.5	Result and interpretation	271
14.5.1	Experience for the work with SEN children and the assessment of one's own competence for work with SEN children.	271
14.5.2	Attitudes toward inclusion	273
CONCLUSION		280
LIST OF REFERENCES Slovenia part		283
Abstract		289