Contents

| Acknowledgements | 17 |
|--|-----|
| Introduction | |
| An Old Question: What Is Knowledge? | 19 |
| I.1 The Puzzle: Why Is Political Knowledge Important? | 22 |
| 1.2 The Nature of Political Knowledge | 31 |
| 1.3 Measuring Political Knowledge | 33 |
| I.4 The Motivation-Ability-Opportunity (MAO) Model | 35 |
| 1.5 The Impact of Political Knowledge on Voting and Policy | |
| Preferences | 36 |
| 1.6 The Aims of This Book | 38 |
| I.7 Overview and Organisation of This Book | 40 |
| Part 1: Theory | |
| Chapter 1: Conceptualising Political Knowledge | |
| Introduction | 47 |
| 1.1 Contrasting Conceptualisations of Truth | 49 |
| 1.2 Evolution of the Conceptualisation of Political Knowledge | 57 |
| 1.3 Public Opinion, Knowledge and Citizen Competence | 61 |
| 1.4 A Critique of Objective Political Knowledge | 65 |
| Conclusion | 67 |
| Chapter 2: Modelling Objective Political Knowledge | - |
| Introduction | 70 |
| 2.1 Modelling Objective Political Knowledge Quiz Scores | 71 |
| 2.2 An Overview of Level(s) of Objective Political Knowledge, 2006–2013 | 75 |
| 2.3 Classical Test Theory (CTT) | 78 |
| 2.4 Item Response Theory (IRT) | 81 |
| 2.5 The Impact of Changing the Factual Knowledge Questions | 98 |
| Conclusion | 101 |
| Part 2: Data and Measurement | |

| Chapter 3: Overview of Objective Political Knowledge i | n the Czech |
|--|-------------|
| Republic, 1967-2014 | |
| Introduction | 105 |
| 3.1 An Overview of Objective Political Knowledge | |
| Survey Data, 1967-2014 | 107 |
| 3.2 Objective Political Knowledge in 1967 | 109 |

| 3.3 Objective Political Knowledge Prior to the Velvet Revolution | 113 |
|--|------|
| 3.4 Voter Knowledge during the First Democratic Elections, 1990 | 120 |
| 3.5 Objective Political Knowledge Prior to the Velvet Divorce | 127 |
| 3.6 Political Knowledge across Four General Elections: 2002–2013 | 132 |
| Conclusion | 137 |
| Chapter 4: Survey Response Style and Objective Political Knowledge Measurement | |
| Introduction | 139 |
| 4.1 Survey Response Style and Political Knowledge Measurement | 140 |
| 4.2 A Cultural Explanation of Survey Response Style | 148 |
| 4.3 Data and Methods | 154 |
| 4.4 Evidence for Survey Response Style Effects | 157 |
| 4.5 Cultural Determinants of Survey Response Effects | 163 |
| Conclusion | 165 |
| Chapter 5: Objective and Subjective Political Knowledge | |
| Introduction | 167 |
| 5.1 Objective Political Knowledge | 171 |
| 5.2 Subjective Political Knowledge | 172 |
| 5.3 Motivation-Ability-Opportunity (MAO) Models | 175 |
| 5.4 Modelling Objective and Subjective Political Knowledge | 180 |
| 5.5 Determinants of Subjective Political Knowledge | 187 |
| Conclusion | 191 |
| Chapter 6: Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge | |
| Introduction | 193 |
| 6.1 A Motivating Example Holme's Theory of Knowledge | 194 |
| 6.2 Alternative Forms of Political Knowledge | 196 |
| 6.3 Objective and Interpersonal Knowledge | 197 |
| 6.4 A Theory of Implicit Political Knowledge | 199 |
| 6.5 Determinants of Implicit and Other Forms of Knowledge | 207 |
| Conclusion | 213 |
| | |
| Part 3: Determinants of Political Knowledge | |
| Chapter 7: Determinants of Objective and Interpersonal Political Knowledge. Means, Motive and Opportunity | |
| Introduction | 217 |
| 7.1 Determinants of Political Knowledge | 221 |
| 7.2 Motivation, Ability and Opportunity (MAO) | 224 |
| 7.3 The Extension of MAO into OMAR | 229 |
| 7.4 Data and Methods | 230 |
| 7.5 Modelling Results and Discussion | 231 |
| Conclusion | 241 |
| | 1656 |

| Introduction 243 8.1 Explaining Misinformed, Uninformed and Informed Responses 244 8.2 Determinants of Being Misinformed and Informed 248 8.3 Determinants of Guessing Answers 248 8.4 Determinants of Guessing Answers 252 8.5 Discussion of the Modelling Results 255 Conclusion 265 Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits Introduction 267 9.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality 271 9.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality 272 9.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 275 9.4 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 277 9.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale 279 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge 282 Conclusion 288 Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge 293 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 293 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 293 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 293 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 293 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 293 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 313 Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct Voting 310 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 320 11.2 Data and Methods 329 11.3 Modelling Results 336 Conclusion 344 Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction 146 12.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000 348 12.2 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000 348 12.2 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000 348 12.2 Ability to Forecast Sci | Chapter 8: A Comparative Analysis of the Determinants of Being | |
|--|---|----------|
| 8.1 Explaining Misinformed, Uninformed and Informed Responses 244 8.2 Determinants of Being Misinformed 248 8.3 Determinants of Guessing Answers 248 8.4 Determinants of Being Uninformed: Don't Know Responses 252 8.5 Discussion of the Modelling Results 255 Conclusion 265 Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits Introduction 267 9.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality 271 9.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality 271 9.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality 277 9.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 275 9.4 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 279 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge 288 Conclusion 288 Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Factual Nowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 293 10.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge 298 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.4 Direct Impact of Objective Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 304 Conclusion 313 Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge 094 Conclusion 313 | Informed, Uninformed and Misinformed | 942 |
| Responses2448.2 Determinants of Being Misinformed2488.3 Determinants of Guessing Answers2488.4 Determinants of Being Uninformed: Don't Know Responses2528.5 Discussion of the Modelling Results255Conclusion265Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits2719.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality2719.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality2729.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2779.4 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2779.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale2799.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge288Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge29310.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge294204 Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge11.3 Meory of Correct Voting32011.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 <td></td> <td>243</td> | | 243 |
| 8.2 Determinants of Being Misinformed 248 8.3 Determinants for Guessing Answers 248 8.4 Determinants of Being Uninformed: Don't Know Responses 252 8.5 Discussion of the Modelling Results 255 Conclusion 267 9.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality 271 9.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality 272 9.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 275 9.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge 277 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge 288 Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge 293 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 293 10.3 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge 293 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 304 Conclusion 313 Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge 304 Orect Voting 312 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 320 12.2 Data and Methods | | 944 |
| 8.3 Determinants for Guessing Answers 248 8.4 Determinants of Being Uninformed: Don't Know Responses 252 8.5 Discussion of the Modelling Results 255 Conclusion 265 Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits 271 9.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality 272 9.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality 272 9.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 275 9.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge 277 9.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale 279 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge 288 Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge 291 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 298 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 204 Conclusion 313 Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge 292 10.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge 304 Conclusion 313 | | Acres 14 |
| 8.4 Determinants of Being Uninformed: Don't Know Responses 252 8.5 Discussion of the Modelling Results 255 Conclusion 265 Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits 271 9.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality 271 9.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality 272 9.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 277 9.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge 277 9.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale 279 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge 288 Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits 291 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 298 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 291 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 320 <t< td=""><td></td><td></td></t<> | | |
| 8.5 Discussion of the Modelling Results255Conclusion265Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits2679.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality2719.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality2729.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2759.4 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2779.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale2799.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge282Conclusion29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29310.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Juteractive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29311.1 A Theory of Correct Voting31311.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | 1222 |
| Conclusion265Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits2679.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality2719.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality2729.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2759.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge2779.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge282Conclusion288Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge204Conclusion313111 A Theory of Correct Voting11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34611.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| Introduction2679.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality2719.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality2729.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2759.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge2779.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale282Conclusion288Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge283Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29310.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge294Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge304Conclusion31911.1 A Theory of Cornect Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| 9.1 Big Five Factor Model of Personality2719.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality2729.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2759.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge2779.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale2799.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge282Conclusion288Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 29529510.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 29829610.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 29829410.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 29829410.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 29829410.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 29829410.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 29830410.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 29830410.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 29830410.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 29930410.5 Interactive Effects of Political Knowledge 29030411.1 A Theory of Cornect Voting 11.2 Data and Methods 20132911.3 Modelling Results 200336201.4 Dility to | Chapter 9: Objective Political Knowledge and Personality Traits | |
| 9.2 Operationalisation of the Big Five Factor Model of Personality 272 9.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge 275 9.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge 277 9.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale 279 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge 282 Conclusion 288 Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits 291 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 293 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 0.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 204 Conclusion 313 Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge 304 Conclusion 313 Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct Voting 319 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 320 11.2 Data and Methods 329 11.3 Modelling Results 336 Conclusion 344 Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction 346 12.1 Ability | | |
| 9.3 Personality Traits and General Factual Knowledge2759.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge2779.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale2799.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge282Conclusion288Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 29829310.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 20629810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 206204Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge 204Chapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge 20731911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 11.2 Data and Methods 20932911.3 Modelling Results 200336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction346 | | |
| 9.4 Personality Traits and Factual Political Knowledge2779.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale2799.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge282Conclusion283Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29310.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29410.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge204Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| 9.5 Measuring Personality Traits with the TIPI Scale 279 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge 282 Conclusion 288 Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits 291 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge 293 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge 293 10.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge 298 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 298 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge 294 Conclusion 313 Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge 295 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 320 11.2 Data and Methods 329 11.3 Modelling Results 336 Conclusion 344 Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction 346 12.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000 348 | | |
| 9.6 Data and Determinants of Objective Political Knowledge Conclusion282 288Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits291Introduction29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29310.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct Voting31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| Conclusion288Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29510.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct Voting31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| Chapter 10: Objective, Implicit and Interpersonal Political Knowledge and Personality Traits29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29810.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct VotingIntroduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| and Personality Traits29110.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29510.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct VotingIntroduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | Conclusion | 288 |
| 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge29310.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29510.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Turnout and Correct VotingIntroduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion31911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| 10.2 Personality Traits and Difference Facets of Political Knowledge29510.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct VotingIntroduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | Introduction | 291 |
| 10.3 MAO and Three Facets of Political Knowledge29810.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct VotingIntroduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | 10.1 Style of Thinking and Political Knowledge | 293 |
| 10.4 Direct Impact of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge29810.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge304Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct VotingIntroduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | 295 |
| 10.5 Interactive Effects of Personality Traits on Political Knowledge Conclusion304 313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct VotingIntroduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | 10000000 |
| Conclusion313Part 4: Consequences of Political KnowledgeChapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Tumout and Correct Voting319Introduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge Chapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Turnout and Correct Voting Introduction 319 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting 320 11.2 Data and Methods 329 11.3 Modelling Results 336 Conclusion 344 Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction 346 12.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000 348 | | |
| Chapter 11: Impact of Objective Political Knowledge on Voter Turmout and Correct Voting319Introduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | Conclusion | 313 |
| and Correct Voting319Introduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | Part 4: Consequences of Political Knowledge | |
| Introduction31911.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| 11.1 A Theory of Correct Voting32011.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction346Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | 319 |
| 11.2 Data and Methods32911.3 Modelling Results336Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction346Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | |
| Conclusion 344 Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction 346 12.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000 348 | | |
| Conclusion344Chapter 12: Objective Political Knowledge and Prediction Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | 11.3 Modelling Results | 336 |
| Introduction34612.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000348 | | 344 |
| 12.1 Ability to Forecast Scientific Advances by the Year 2000 348 | | |
| | Introduction | 346 |
| 12.2 Ability to Forecast Social Trends 353 | | 071202 |
| | 12.2 Ability to Forecast Social Trends | 353 |

| 12.3 Models of Predictive Ability | 358 |
|---|-----|
| Conclusion | 364 |
| Chapter 13: Expert Knowledge and Differences of Opinion | |
| Introduction | 366 |
| 13.1 Philosophers' Conceptions of Knowledge and Truth | 367 |
| 13.2 Differences in Policy Preferences among Economists | 375 |
| 13.3 A Comparison of the Knowledge and Perceptions of Political | |
| Experts and Citizens | 382 |
| Conclusion | 392 |
| Conclusion | |
| Knowledge as Critical Thinking | 394 |
| C.1 What Has Been Learned in This Book? | 396 |
| C.2 Political Knowledge and Motivated Reasoning | 401 |
| C.3 An Economic Theory of Ordinary Knowledge | 403 |
| C.4 Does It Matter How Citizen Competence Is Measured? | 407 |
| C.5 Is Ignorance of Politics Unique or the Norm? | 407 |
| Knowledge and Representative Democracy | 409 |
| Bibliography | 411 |
| Appendices | 442 |
| Index | 473 |