

CONTENTS

Table of Cases	xvii
Table of Legislation	xxiii

I INTRODUCTION

1. Linkages in International Law Affecting Intellectual Property
2. The Systemic Character of International Law
I. The ILC Approach	2.02
II. Is International Law a (Legal) System?	2.06
III. Societal Differentiation and Systems-Theory	2.11
IV. A Functional Approach	2.18
3. Approaches for Analysing Norm Relationships
I. 'Conflict of Norms' Principles	3.07
The principle of harmonious interpretation and systemic integration	3.08
Defining norm conflicts	3.13
Conflict norms in general international law	3.17
Lex posterior derogat legi priori	3.19
Lex specialis derogat legi generali	3.25
II. Conflict-of-Laws Principles	3.28
Inter-systemic Conflicts	3.29
Qualifikation, dépeçage , and governmental interest analysis	3.33
Comity and a conflict-rule of integration	3.43
Ordre public and mandatory rules as safeguards	3.49
Pleading and proving foreign law	3.52
III. Substantive Law Integration	3.57
IV. The Toolbox	3.61

II NORM RELATIONS WITHIN THE INTERNATIONAL IP SYSTEM

4. Norm Relations amongst Multilateral Treaties

I. Revisions of and Special Agreements to the Berne and Paris Conventions	4.02
Subsequent Acts of the Paris and Berne Conventions	4.04
Reciprocal or integral obligations?	4.10
Special agreements under Article 20 BC and Article 19 PC	4.13
'Special' agreements	4.18
Requirements in the specific conflict rules	4.28
Consequences of inconsistency	4.44
II. WTO/TRIPS Relations with the Main Pre-Existing IP Treaties	4.47
The 'convention-plus' approach	4.49
The 'non-derogation' approach	4.55
Optional TRIPS provisions vs binding Convention obligations	4.59
Binding TRIPS obligations vs optional Convention rules	4.61
Harmonious interpretation: continuity vs adaptation	4.67

5. TRIPS and Later Inter-Se Agreements

I. FTA IP Obligations and TRIPS Flexibilities	5.03
Relationships of interpretation	5.07
Relationships of conflict	5.16
II. Conflict Resolution Norms in TRIPS and under General International Law	5.20
Article 1(1) of the TRIPS Agreement	5.21
The conflict rule character of the no-contravention rule in TRIPS	5.22
Additional IP protection may not 'contravene' TRIPS provisions	5.29
Article 41 VCLT	5.35
Affecting rights or obligations of other WTO Members	5.40
Undermining the effective operation of TRIPS' object and purpose: the nature of TRIPS obligations	5.47
Lex posterior and lex specialis	5.56
III. Conflict Clauses in FTAs	5.62
Affirming WTO/TRIPS (rights and) obligations	5.64
References to the Doha Declaration	5.69
References to (specific) TRIPS flexibilities	5.75
IV. Conflict Resolution via Harmonious Interpretation and Priority in Application: The Limits of FTAs Shaping TRIPS Interpretation	5.81

6. The International IP System: From Continuity to Resilience

III ALTERNATIVE RULE-SYSTEMS FOR THE PROTECTION OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

7. Intellectual Property and International Investment Agreements

I. The Scope for IP Protection under IIAs	7.03
IP-related definitions of investment in IIAs	7.05
The host state's IP law as determining factor	7.06
Applications for IP rights	7.10
Additional criteria for IP rights as protected investments	7.14
IP rights as protected investments in the tobacco packaging disputes	7.17
II. Non-Discrimination Standards in IIAs	7.22
National treatment and MFN in international IP Law	7.23
National treatment and MFN in IIAs	7.25
The relevance of reciprocity rules in international IP Law	7.28
III. Absolute Standards of Treatment for Foreign Investments	7.31
Fair and equitable treatment	7.32
Legitimate investor expectations vs the right to regulate	7.34
IP rights as basis for investor expectations?	7.39
International IP norms as a legitimate source of expectations?	7.50
IP enforcement and 'full protection and security'	7.59
Expropriation and IP rights	7.64
Indirect expropriation and measures limiting IP rights	7.65
Safeguard clauses for international IP flexibilities	7.73
Conditions for expropriating IP rights as foreign investments	7.75
IV. International IP Obligations in Investor-State Arbitration	7.79
Most-favoured-nation clauses	7.80
Fair and equitable treatment and umbrella clauses	7.84
Clauses requiring consistency with international IP rules	7.91

8. The Protection of Intellectual Property in International Human Rights Law

I. The Scope for Protection for Creator's Rights under Article 27 UDHR and Article 15(1)(c) ICESCR	8.04
Creator's rights: Drafting history and context	8.05
General Comment No 17	8.11
Status and Function	8.12
Substance: delineating scope and content of creator's rights	8.15
Conceptual differences to the international IP system	8.22

II. The Right to (Intellectual) Property	8.26
IP rights in front of the European Court of Human Rights	8.29
Possessions as protected subject matter	8.30
The role of national law	8.32
Deference to national courts?	8.35
Applications for IP rights	8.39
State interference vis-à-vis IP rights	8.42
Reviewing justifications for an interference	8.48
Balancing the right to (intellectual) property with other human rights	8.53
Copyright enforcement vs freedom of expression under the ECHR	8.54
Article 17(2) of the EU Charter	8.60
III. Overlaps and Conflict Norms in the Human Rights System	8.68
The CJEU, international IP rules, and Article 17(2) of the EU Charter	8.69
The right to property, other ECHR rights, and external rules	8.78
The CESCR, other UN human rights organs, and TRIPS	8.88
 9. Investment and Human Rights Perspectives: Increasing Cross-Fertilization with the International IP System
 IV INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY AND OTHER RULE SYSTEMS IN INTERNATIONAL LAW
 10. The Perspective of World Trade Law on IP Rights
I. IP Protection and Enforcement—a Barrier to or Facilitator of International Trade?	10.05
II. IP Rights under GATT—the Pre-TRIPS Cases	10.12
US—Import of Certain Automotive Spring Assemblies	10.13
US—Section 337 of the Tariff Act 1930	10.19
III. TRIPS-Plus Protection and Enforcement as Barrier to Trade	10.28
EU—Seizures of Generic Drugs in Transit	10.35
Extending trademark rights to goods in transit	10.41
Freedom of transit under Article V GATT	10.49
TRIPS-plus protection of geographical indications	10.54
GATT non-discrimination standards and quantitative restrictions	10.57
IV. Article XX(d) GATT as Conflict Norm in the Trade–IP Relationship	10.67
Justifying transit seizures and IP rights covering transit	10.70
GATT consistency test	10.71
Necessity test and chapeau	10.78
Justifying TRIPS-plus GI protection	10.83

V. Safeguarding a Common Core of IP Protection— the Role of TRIPS	10.88
--	-------

11. IP Rights in International Environmental Law

I. The Foundation for Biological Resources and Technology
Transfer Rules in International Law	11.08
The New International Economic Order movement	11.10
Merging technology transfer demands with concerns over protecting the environment	11.13
Sovereignty over biological resources in exchange for access and conservation	11.16
The fate of IP demands and the neglect of Traditional Knowledge	11.22
II. Access and Benefit-Sharing Regarding GRs and Associated TK	11.24
IP-related issues facing provider and user countries	11.26
Access and benefit-sharing obligations in the CBD and the NP	11.34
Articles 15 and 8(j) CBD	11.35
The Bonn Guidelines	11.40
The Nagoya Protocol on Access and Benefit-Sharing	11.45
Access to GRs and associated TK	11.48
Benefit-sharing	11.50
Compliance	11.59
III. Transfer of Technology Resulting from the Utilization of GRs	11.67
The scope and limits of obligations concerning technology based on GRs	11.71
The role of IP rights and international IP protection	11.85
IV. Transfer of Technology to Protect the Environment	11.94
North–South dynamics in the negotiation of the UNFCCC and its technology transfer rules	11.97
From Rio to Paris and beyond: The struggle over IP protection for ESTs	11.112
Sputnik, climate justice, and lifestyle choices—assessing the reasons behind the IP debate	11.121
V. Conflict Clauses in International Environmental Agreements	11.128
The principles of state sovereignty over natural resources and of common but differentiated responsibilities for climate change	11.129
Specific conflict clauses	11.138
Article 22(1) CBD	11.139
Article 4 NP	11.145
General international law conflict resolution tools and alternative approaches	11.154

V INTEGRATION AND CONFLICT NORMS
IN INTERNATIONAL IP LAW

12. Conflict Rules and Integration Principles in the International IP System
I. Formal Conflict Rules	12.02
II. Specific Tools of Accommodation—an Overview	12.13
A ‘human rights treaty’ on mandatory exceptions and limitations in copyright	12.15
IP and public health: From Doha via Hong Kong to Kigali	12.27
IP and GRs and TK: Proposals for a disclosure of origin rule in TRIPS	12.35
III. Exceptions and Limitations Subject to the Three-Step-Test	12.43
13. General Principles for Integration
I. Public Interest Principles under Article 8 TRIPS	13.03
The origin: A general public interest exception	13.05
In search for nature and function of Article 8(1)	13.10
The concept of negative rights and non-violation complaints	13.17
The horizontal interpretative function of Article 8(1)	13.22
II. The Balancing Objectives in Article 7 TRIPS	13.33
A mandate for tailoring IP protection towards domestic needs	13.35
Article 7 as treaty objective—implications for TRIPS interpretation	13.46
III. Articles 7 and 8 TRIPS in WTO Dispute Settlement:
Twenty Years of Neglect	13.59
Application of Articles 7 and 8 TRIPS	13.60
US–Section 211 and EC–GIs	13.61
Canada–Patents	13.65
Other cases referring to object and purpose	13.76
Possible explanations and the prospect of change in Australia–Plain Packaging	13.80
14. The Protection of Intellectual Property in International Law: Fragmentation, Alternatives, and the Limits of Integration
I. Resilience, Cross-Fertilization, and External Concerns	14.05
II. Treaty Interpretation, Ceilings, and a General Exception Clause	14.16
Index	493