

Contents

Foreword: Voyage to the Animal World, by Andrew Linzey	ix
Introduction: Pet Theories	3
I Surveying the Options
1 God and the Giving of Animals	17
Theological Method	17
The Biblical Record	20
The Christian Tradition	28
Hauerwas and Berkman on a Biblical Foundation for Animal Welfare	35
Andrew Linzey and the Theology of Animal Rights	38
2 Ecology versus the Peaceable Kingdom	44
Process Thought and the Luring of Animals	44
Environmental Theology and the Reclamation of Nature	51
Ecofeminism and Animal Compassion	55
The Rhetoric of Rights and the Demands of Care	57

II Thinking about Pets

3 What Are Dogs For? 69

The Other as More of the Same? 69*The Other as Social Self* 72*The Other as Personal Self* 78

4 The Difference That Dogs Make 85

Pets, Women, Meat, and Rhetoric 85*Vicki Hearne on the Language of Training* 91*Keeping the Other Other* 95*Reading Excess* 98*Excess as More Than Other* 102

III A Theology for the Dogs

5 Theology and Dogtalk 109

The Sensibility of Sentiment 109*Evolution and the Problem of Animal Pain* 115*God as a Lover of Dogs* 123

6 The Sacrificial Economy of Christian Theology 128

Economics and Sacrifice 128*Karl Barth's Sacrificial Economy of Animals* 130*Hebrew Sacrifice and the Covenant* 134*The End of Sacrifice* 144

7 Jesus Christ and the Future of Animals 155

A Vegetarian Eucharist 155*The Cosmic Christ and the Church for All Creatures* 167*Animal Afterlife* 174

Epilogue: God's Nature as the Future of the World 181

Notes 185

Bibliography 205

Index 219