

Contents

Meet the author	ix
Only got a minute?	x
Only got five minutes?	xii
Only got ten minutes?	xiv
1 Introduction: the art of living	1
What makes something moral?	2
What is the point of ethics?	6
What price integrity?	9
Rights and responsibilities	11
The art of living	13
2 Free to choose?	16
What kind of freedom?	16
Determinism	17
Reductionism	21
Freedom and the State	23
How much freedom does morality need?	25
3 What do we mean?	35
Three kinds of language	35
Defining key terms	39
Some theories	40
'Is' and 'ought'	50
4 Is it natural?	53
Does it have a 'final cause'?	54
Some features of 'natural law'	58
How do you decide what is 'natural'?	59
Applying 'natural law'	61
Are we naturally good or bad?	64
Evolution, change and the natural law	67
5 Looking for results	71
Egoistic hedonism	71
Utilitarianism	76
Forms of utilitarianism	80
General criticisms of utilitarianism	86

6	The experience of moral choice	91
	Conscience	91
	The categorical imperative	95
	The creative response	101
	Determined and yet free?	103
7	Personal development and virtue	106
	Altruism?	107
	Nietzsche	110
	Virtue ethics	114
	Existentialism	117
	Humankind, Marx and Freud	119
8	Law and order	124
	Society and moral choice	124
	In whose interest?	127
	Is equality possible?	129
	A social contract	129
	Crime and punishment	136
	Capital punishment	138
	In self-defence?	140
	Civil disobedience	142
	If Nietzsche were a civil servant ...	146
9	Religion and moral values	151
	How are religion and morality related?	152
	The basis for religious ethics	156
	Religious values and society	168
	Should religious freedom be restricted?	171
10	Scepticism and relativism	175
	Philosophers or politicians?	176
	Situation ethics	182
	Relativism and moral absolutes	184
11	Applied ethics	188
	The natural environment	191
	Animal rights	195
	International issues	203
	War and peace	212
	Gender issues	219

Sexual issues	224
Some issues in medical ethics	232
The beginning and end of life	239
Business ethics	256
Media issues	262
Some conclusions	274
Moral progress: illusion or necessary hope?	279
So where does this leave us?	281
Taking it further	283
Glossary	287
Index	291