

Contents

	About the Authors	ix
	Acknowledgments	xi
	Introduction	xiii
PART I	STRATEGIES OF REGULATION	1
Chapter 1	Gaining the Public's Acceptance of the Decisions of Legal Authorities	3
Chapter 2	Theories and Strategies of Regulation	19
Chapter 3	The California Study of Personal Experiences with the Police and the Courts	28
PART II	THE PSYCHOLOGY OF DECISION ACCEPTANCE	47
Chapter 4	Procedural Justice and Decision Acceptance	49
Chapter 5	Motive-Based Trust and Decision Acceptance	58
Chapter 6	The Overall Influence of Social Motives on Decision Acceptance	76
PART III	SOCIETAL ORIENTATIONS AND PERSONAL EXPERIENCES	97
Chapter 7	Societal Orientations: Legitimacy and Connections with Society	101

Chapter 8	Societal Orientations and Reactions to Personal Experiences with Legal Authorities	123
Chapter 9	Generalizing from Personal Experiences to Societal Orientations	130
PART IV	ETHNIC GROUP DIFFERENCES IN EXPERIENCES WITH THE LAW	139
Chapter 10	Ethnicity and Experiences with Legal Authorities	141
Chapter 11	Variations in the Psychology of Experience	153
Chapter 12	Group Boundaries and Subgroup Identification	165
PART V	IMPLICATIONS AND CONCLUSIONS	175
Chapter 13	General Views About the Law and the Legal System	177
Chapter 14	Implications for Policing	198
Chapter 15	Process-Based Regulation	204
Chapter 16	Psychological Jurisprudence	209
Notes		217
References		227
Index		241