

Contents

INTRODUCTION	12
1 THEORETICAL MEANING OF THE RESEARCH	14
1.1 Officiating as an important activity in basketball	14
1.2 The personality of a referee.....	15
1.2.1 Personality structure.....	18
1.2.2 Personality dynamics	21
1.2.3 Typology and personality factors.....	24
1.2.4 Vigilance and concentration	28
1.2.5 Personal composition of an individual as an important factor in dealing with difficult situations	31
1.3 The premise for successful officiating.....	37
1.3.1 Mastering the rules	42
1.3.2 Communication skills of a referee and cooperation with colleagues.....	44
1.3.3 Fitness preparation	49
1.3.4 Psychological preparation for the event.....	51
1.3.5 Referees' evaluation	53
1.4 On selected psychodiagnostic methods of personality recognition in sporting activities.....	54
2 RESEARCH OBJECTIVE, TASKS and hypotheses.....	59
2.1 Research objectives.....	59
2.2 Research tasks.....	59
2.3 Research hypotheses	60
3 RESEARCH METHODOLOGY.....	62
3.1 Characteristics of the research sample	62
3.2 Research organization and conditions	63
3.3 Research methods.....	63
3.3.1 Methods of obtaining research data.....	64
3.3.2 Methods of evaluation and analysis of research data	71
4 RESEARCH RESULTS.....	75
4.1 Comparing the Individual Types of Referee Evaluation	75
4.2 Correlation Analysis of Relations between the Referee Performance Evaluation and their Personality Traits.....	76
4.3 Comparison of Personality Traits of the Best and the Worst Evaluated Referees	81
4.4 Desirable and Undesirable Personality Traits of a High-Quality Basketball Referee According to Referees Themselves	86

4.5	Discussion.....	90
4.6	Theoretical and Practical Contributions.....	95
CONCLUSION		96
BIBLIOGRAPHY		101
List of Annexes		113