

Contents

List of figures and tables	vi
Acknowledgements	viii
Series editors' preface	ix
one Introduction	1
Setting the scene	1
Outline of the book	7
two Intimacy and ageing in late modernity	13
The changing landscape of later life	13
The transformation of intimacy	15
Intimacy and cultural context	20
The importance of life phase: a developmental perspective	25
Conclusion	28
three The changing landscape of intimacy in later life	29
The impact of the prolonged lifespan for envisioning new intimate futures	29
A culture of divorce	31
From 'society of widows' to 'society of divorcees'	32
The grey divorce revolution	34
The gendered structure of the partner market	35
Changing venues for dating in later life	37
Conclusion	39
four From marriage to alternative union forms	43
A smorgasbord of union forms	43
Are older people carriers of the ideals of marriage culture?	48
Are older people following the ideals of their times?	48
Are some union forms more adapted to later life?	49
A question of age, period or cohort?	50
Cohort	52
Historical time	53
Life phase	54
Conclusion	55

five	A life of relationships	59
	Relationship careers among older Swedes	59
	Consequences of prior relationship dissolutions for late-life intimacy	64
	Gendered experiences: continuity and change in repartnering	69
	Conclusion	73
six	Attitudes towards new romantic relationships	75
	Attitudes to what?	76
	Whose attitudes?	78
	The Swedish case	80
	Conclusion	8
seven	Initiation and development of new romantic relationships	87
	Unveiling negotiation and change in new late-life relationships	87
	Relationship ideals in singlehood: Single Sally	90
	From singlehood to LAT and beyond: LAT Lisa and Lars	92
	From singlehood to cohabitation and beyond:	96
	Cohabiting Carl and Caroline
	From singlehood to marriage and beyond:	100
	Married Mike and Martha
	Conclusion	102
eight	A new partner as a resource for social support	105
	The gains of repartnering	105
	Companionate support	108
	Emotional support	109
	Practical support	113
	Conclusion	116
nine	Consequences for social network and support structures	119
	The impact of life transitions on linked lives	119
	Integration of social and filial networks	121
	The partner as a key to autonomy	123
	Restructuring the chain of interdependent lives	125
	A hierarchy of dependencies	127
	The social support network	129
	Conclusion	132

ten	Sex in an ideology of love	135
	From an ideology of marriage to an ideology of love	136
	The ideal of the consummate relationship	143
	Sex in new late-life relationships	149
	Conclusion	156
eleven	Time as a structuring condition for new intimate relationships in later life	159
	An existential theory of time	159
	Post-(re)productive free time	161
	Remaining time	163
	Conclusion	169
twelve	Discussion	171
	Historical change	173
	Phase of life	175
	The Swedish case	177
	Methodological appendix	181
	The qualitative interview study	181
	The quantitative questionnaire	184
	References	187
	Notes	203
	Index	205