

CONTENT

INTRODUCTION	5
1 IMPACT OF UNEMPLOYMENT ON INDIVIDUALS	7
1.1 Perception of unemployment – theoretical concepts	7
1.1.1 The psychological impact of unemployment	9
1.1.2 The financial impact of unemployment.....	12
1.2 Framework of empirical research in unemployment.....	13
1.3 Qualitative and interpretative study of unemployment	15
1.3.1 Psychological experience of unemployment	16
1.3.2 Financial experience of unemployment.....	26
1.3.3 Images of unemployment: a conceptualization within a framework of coping with unemployment.....	28
1.4 The role of age in unemployment perception	30
1.4.1 Unemployment in young people group	30
1.4.2 Unemployment in the middle-aged group	31
1.4.3 Unemployment in the mature-aged group	31
1.4.4 Common experiences	32
2 CONSUMPTION AND UNEMPLOYMENT.....	34
2.1 Unemployment from a consumer perspective	34
2.2 Theories adopted to the phenomenon of consumption in unemployment.....	36
2.3 Consumer identity in unemployment	39
2.3.1 Possessions in consumer identity.....	39
2.3.2 The impact of changes in life on changes in consumer identity	41
2.4 Resistance towards consumption.....	43
2.5 Desires in consumption	43
2.6 Consumer decision process	45
2.7 Consumption experience	46
2.8 Impulse buying.....	46
2.9 Pros and contras of the theoretical concepts adopted.....	48
3 QUALITATIVE STUDY: CONSUMERS IN UNEMPLOYMENT	50
3.1 The sample description	51
3.2 Methods of data analysis	53
4 CONSUMER BEHAVIOUR OF UNEMPLOYED INDIVIDUALS – EMPIRICAL RESEARCH FINDINGS.....	55
4.1 Unemployment from a consumers’ perspective.....	56
4.2 Strategies to manage the consumption in unemployment	59
4.2.1 Planning for shopping process	60
4.2.2 Dealing with resistance.....	62
4.3 Consumer decisions and consumer behaviour of unemployed individuals.....	63

4.4	Components of consumption process of unemployed individuals	68
4.4.1	Transition from employment to unemployment	69
4.4.2	Changes in the consumer identity.....	70
4.4.3	Resistance, desire and involvement in consumption process.....	72
4.4.4	Consumption in fulfilling the needs	76
4.5	Implications from the research of unemployed consumers	79
5	THEMATIC ANALYSIS OF BEHAVIOUR IN COGNITIVELY YOUNG SENIORS	82
5.1	Perception of change and continuity	83
5.2	Perception of limits and choices	85
5.3	Perception of quantity and speed	86
5.4	Implications for theory	87
6	POLICY OF ACTIVE AND SUCCESSFUL AGEING	88
6.1	The concept of Active ageing.....	88
6.2	Measuring Active Ageing	91
6.3	Ageing, health and nutrition	94
7	CONSUMPTION AND FOOD SHOPPING BEHAVIOUR OF SENIORS....	97
7.1	Specifics of food consumption behaviour in older age	97
7.2	Determinants of shopping behaviour in seniors' segment	99
7.2.1	Store accessibility	99
7.2.2	In-store environment	100
7.2.3	Product-related factors.....	103
7.2.4	Factors critical in terms of their contribution towards the overall satisfaction.....	105
7.3	Seniors' food shopping satisfaction	106
8	RETAIL MANAGEMENT FRIENDLY TO HANDICAPED OLDER CONSUMERS	109
8.1	Importance-performance analysis (IPA) in satisfaction evaluation	111
8.2	Adoption of IPA in the older consumers segment	112
8.3	Implications from adopting the IPA assessment	118
	CONCLUSION	119
	REFERENCES	122