

C O N T E N T S

---

Your Boy .....	1
Your Home .....	7
Your Neighborhood .....	15
How Cub Scouting Can Help You.....	17
How Cub Scouting Works .....	23

That son of yours—he means so much to you. In him are your hopes, your dreams. You'll do everything in the world for him.

And that's fine. He needs your help— yours more than anybody else's. Your approval, your encouragement give him security and courage in a perplexing world. You'll make him feel that he really belongs, that he is somebody in his family. From that standpoint he can face whatever life offers him.

It's the aim of Cub Scouting to help you help your boy. This booklet, written by Gerald Speedy, director of the Program Division, suggests some ways to do that job easier and better.

---

Your Responsibility as a Cub Scout Dad.....	29
Your Responsibility as a Cub Scout Mother.....	35
The Achievement Plan .....	39
After Cub Scouting, What Next?.....	55