

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction Shawn E. Klein	xi
PART 1: CONCEPTIONS OF SPORT	1
1 A Three-Pointer: Revisiting Three Crucial Issues in the “Tricky Triad” of Play, Games, and Sport Chad Carlson	3
2 Broad Internalism and Interpretation: A Plurality of Interpretivist Approaches Francisco Javier López Frías	22
3 Hopscotch Dreams: Coming to Terms with the Cultural Significance of Sport Kevin Schieman	45
4 Defining Olympic Sport Heather L. Reid	65
5 Early Modern Athletic Contests: Sport or Not Sport? John McClelland	78
6 The Impact of Mass Media on the Definition of Sport Keith Strudler	98
PART 2: BORDERLINE CASES	111
7 Borderline Cases: CrossFit, Tough Mudder, and Spartan Race Pam R. Sailors, Sarah Teetzel, and Charlene Weaving	113

8	Evolution of the Action Sports Setting	128
	Chrysostomos Giannoulakis and Lindsay Krol Pursglove
9	Skateboarding, Sport, and Spontaneity: Toward a Subversive Definition of Sport	147
	Brian Glenney
10	Bullfighting: The Mirror and Reflection of Spanish Society	159
	Teresa González Aja
11	Why Some Animal Sports Are Not Sports	175
	Joan Grassbaugh Forry
12	The Mainstreaming of Fantasy Sport: Redefining Sport	193
	Brody J. Ruihley, Andrew Billings, and Coral Rae
13	E-sport: Video Games as Sport	207
	Joey Gawrysiak
	References	223
	Index	245
	About the Contributors	255