

Contents

	Page
Foreword	iv
Acknowledgements	vii
The Author	viii
1 Introduction	1
2 The End of Denial Crime and Social Disorder in the 1990s	14
3 Low Unemployment, Declining Poverty and Rising Crime 1961-1979	31
4 The Evidence from the 1950s and Early 1960s	49
5 Poverty, Unemployment and Social Disorder Between the Two Wars and Earlier	59
6 No Stake in Society	72
7 The Consumption Levels of the Bottom Tenth of Income Receivers	78
8 The Young Unemployed in the Bottom Tenth	86
9 The Fatherless Household in the Bottom Tenth	91
10 The Loss of Poverty as a Salient Social Issue	110
11 The Search for a Substitute	123
12 Unconditional Rights	134
13 Relative Poverty	143
14 Short-term Changes and Long-term Trends	147
15 Fathers Without Families	153
Appendix Choice and Personal Responsibility	173
Notes	180