

1	A few words by way of introduction	13
	Transformations of the soul and creation	21
2	Arteries, nodes and catharsis in art therapy	57
	I. Themes as a key to understanding, untangling and resolving psychological disorders	58
	II. Working with time in expressions of the present. Past, present and future time as a theme of expressive manifestations	88
	III. Realm of experience and creation	98
	IV. Items in the role of "corpus delicti" of our emotional memory. Collections, installations, assemblage objects	103
	V. Photographs as imprints of reality – the starting point of the imagination	110
	VI. Biomorphic shapes as a means of healing the soul	116
	VII. Sharing within a play – a social role as a subject to art production	120
3	Ritual situations and ceremonies as a path to discovering one's own individuality and to sharing collectively	125
	I. Rituals and ceremonies as a path to sharing both physical and mental space	125
	II. A ritual as an act of warming a place	143
	III. A ritual as a means for learning about oneself	145
	IV. Meeting shadows in the darkness as a ritual that leads to a cleansing of the soul effect	147
	V. The cathartic role of a ritual	154
4	Places and the human soul – influencing and curing psychological processes by the sharing of space	163
	I. The character of a place as a creative source and as a means for vitalising the soul	165

II.	Natural location and a psychological archetype	185
III.	A construction as a symbol	188
IV.	The landscape of our own soul	190
V.	Wandering around	193

5 On the work of two selected authors – Peter Hudran and Jan Sytař 197

I.	Peter Hudran	198
II.	Jan Sytař	214

6 Resümee 235

Bibliography	237
--------------	-----

Name index	242
------------	-----