

CONTENTS

Preface to the Fifteenth Impression	iv
Foreword	9
Introduction: 'Meaning and Ideology'	11
PART ONE	'Advertising-Work'
Chapter One A Currency of Signs	20
a. Differentiation	24
b. The Finished Connection: An 'Objective Correlative'	29
c. Product as Signified	31
d. Product as Signifier	35
e. Product as Generator	36
f. Product as Currency	38
Chapter Two Signs Address Somebody	40
a. Currency Requires a Subject to Make an Exchange	42
b. 'Totemism': Subject as Signified	45
c. Appellation and Individualism: Individuals Constituted as Subjects	50
d. Divisions	55
e. Advertising and the 'Mirror-Phase'	60
f. The Created Self	67
Chapter Three Signs for Deciphering: Hermeneutics	71
a. Absence	77
b. Language	84
c. Calligraphy	91
PART TWO	'Ideological Castles': Referent Systems
Chapter Four 'Cooking' Nature	103
a. 'The Raw and the Cooked': Representations of Transformation	103
b. Science	110
c. 'Cooked' Sex: 'Civilisation and Its Discontents'	120
Chapter Five Back to Nature	122
a. 'The Natural'	123
b. Surrealism	131
c. The Ideology of the Natural	134
Chapter Six Magic	138
a. Alchemy	145
b. Spells	147
c. The Genie in the Lamp and the World in the Bottle	149
d. The Crystal Ball/Magic Circle	151
Chapter Seven Time: Narrative and History	152
a. Time Past: Memory	157
b. Time Future: Desire	161
c. History	164
Chapter Eight Conclusions	167
Select Bibliography	180