

1.	Introduction	1
	Geography, rurality and change	4
	Confronting gender in rural geography	11
	The chapters	15
2.	Feminist theory and rural geography	18
	Introduction	18
	Feminist geography: early development	20
	Early feminist geography and the rural	26
	Feminist geographies and gender identity	30
	Gender identity and rural geography	41
	Conclusion	43
3.	Gender, nature and the rural landscape	46
	Introduction	46
	Gender, rurality and the social construction of nature	47
	Masculinity and the control of nature	55
	Women, nature and the rural environment	64
	Conclusion	69

4.	Gender and the rural community	71
	Introduction	71
	The community in rural geography	72
	Rural community studies and the recognition of gender difference	75
	Gender and the cultural construction of the rural community	83
	Gender, community and village institutions	91
	The gendered nature of community spaces	93
	Conclusion	95
5.	Gender, employment and the rural labour market	98
	Introduction	98
	The rural labour market	99
	Rural women's employment	104
	Women's employment and the rural household	113
	Women's employment and policy	120
	Conclusion	123
6.	Power, gender and rural governance	125
	Introduction	125
	Gender and the rural state	127
	New rural governance and gender relations	134
	Rural regeneration, Rural Challenge and new rural governance	138
	Gender and Rural Challenge	143
	Gender, politics and the rural community	151
	Conclusion	154
7.	Gender, sexuality and rurality	156
	Introduction	156
	Rurality and representations of sexuality	157
	Homosexual lifestyles in the countryside	167
	Conclusion	175

8.	Conclusion	178
	The continuing relevance of gender in researching the rural landscape and society?	178
	Gender identity and research methodology	182
	Further research	187
	 Bibliography	 191