

Contents

Foreword	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
List of Abbreviations	xvii
Prologue	xxi
Chapter 1: Digital Memories and the Personal Content Explosion	1
1.1 Digital Us	2
1.2 You and This Book	5
1.3 Contents at a Glance	7
Chapter 2: Trends Towards Mobility	11
2.1 The New Nomads	12
2.1.1 Five-Second Attention Span	13
2.1.2 Continuous and Nomadic Mobile Use	15
2.2 Mobile Device Categories	16
2.2.1 Dedicated Media Devices	17
2.2.2 Swiss Army Knives	20
2.2.3 Toolbox Devices	21
2.2.4 Accessories and Other Devices	24
2.3 Mobile Compromises	25
2.3.1 Teeny Weeny Uls	30
2.4 Because it Can!	30
2.5 Convergence	31
2.6 Wireless Revolution	33

2.6.1 Broadcast Networks	35
2.6.2 Short-Range Wireless	36
2.7 Case Study: Mobile Music	38
2.8 References	43
 Chapter 3: Mobile Personal Content Uncovered.....	 45
3.1 First there were Files.....	48
3.1.1 From File Management to Content Management.....	49
3.1.2 Creation and Usage make Content Personal	52
3.2 Categorization	54
3.3 Characteristics of Personal Content	56
3.3.1 Content Explosion.....	58
3.3.2 Personal Content is Invaluable	59
3.3.3 Personal Content is Familiar . . . or Not.....	59
3.3.4 Favourites	61
3.3.5 Sharing and Communities	61
3.3.6 Relations and Associations	61
3.3.7 Privacy and Security Requirements	62
3.4 Mobile Personal Content	63
3.4.1 Mobile Personal Content is Distributed.....	63
3.4.2 Mobile Content is Tied to Creation and Usage Context	64
3.4.3 The Same Content Types, New Usage Patterns ...	64
3.4.4 Totally New Content Types, or Extended Use of Existing Content Types.....	65
3.4.5 New Behavioural Patterns.....	66
3.4.6 New Challenges.....	67
3.5 Content Wants to be Free?	67
3.6 GEMS, a Tool for Modelling Personal Content Experience	72
3.7 References	76

Chapter 4: Metadata Magic.....	79
4.1 Metadata for Consumers: A Brief
Introduction	80
4.1.1 Metadata Semantics.....	82
4.1.2 Metadata – For Managing or Enjoying?	83
4.2 Metadata Creation	84
4.3 Metadata Maintenance	90
4.4 Relations Give Meaning.....	91
4.4.1 People as First-Class Metadata	92
4.4.2 Derived Metadata	93
4.5 How does Metadata Benefit the User?.....	93
4.5.1 Tracing and Recall	94
4.5.2 Searching.....	94
4.5.3 Organizing: Sorting, Grouping and Filtering.....	95
4.5.4 Automatic Summarizing.....	96
4.5.5 Enhancing Privacy and Security.....	97
4.5.6 Constructing Views	97
4.5.7 Better Recommendations.....	98
4.5.8 Reusing / Remixing / Reconstructing	98
4.5.9 Smoother Transition Between Applications	99
4.6 Existing Approaches	99
4.6.1 MARC.....	100
4.6.2 Dublin Core Metadata Initiative.....	101
4.6.3 XMP.....	103
4.6.4 ID3v2	104
4.6.5 Acidized Wav	105
4.6.6 DCF and EXIF	107
4.6.7 Quicktime.....	107
4.6.8 MPEG-7	108
4.6.9 RSS	109
4.6.10 Summary	110

4.7 The PCE Trinity: Mobility, Context and Metadata	111
4.7.1 File Context	112
4.7.2 Elements of Context.....	114
4.7.3 Context is Essential for Communication	115
4.8 The Challenges: Universal Metadata, Extensibility, Abuse	116
4.9 Yet Another Challenge: Interoperability	118
4.9.1 Personal Content Device Ecosystem.....	118
4.9.2 Application Interoperability	120
4.9.3 Existing Solutions for Interoperability.....	120
4.10 The Dream: When Metadata Really Works	122
4.11 References	124
 Chapter 5: Realizing a Metadata Framework.....	 127
5.1 Metadata is a Solution . . . and a Problem.....	128
5.2 Challenges in Distributed Mobile Content Management	130
5.2.1 Storage.....	130
5.2.2 Synchronization	133
5.2.3 Version Control.....	134
5.2.4 Backing Up	135
5.2.5 Content Adaptation.....	136
5.2.6 Locating the Desired Piece of Content.....	138
5.3 Different Types of Metadata.....	140
5.3.1 Tags	141
5.3.2 Context Capture	142
5.3.3 Relationships.....	145
5.3.4 Usage History and Events.....	147

5.4 From Content Management to Metadata Management	148
5.4.1 Cross Media Challenge and Metadata Ownership	150
5.4.2 Separating Metadata from Content Binaries	151
5.4.3 Preparing for the Future.....	153
5.5 Overall Architecture.....	154
5.6 Our Metadata Ontology.....	157
5.6.1 Instance Metadata and the Schema	160
5.6.2 Initializing the Framework.....	160
5.6.3 Our Default Ontology.....	161
5.6.4 Namespace	161
5.6.5 Metadata Schema Objects	162
5.6.6 The Most Typical Metadata Schema Objects and Attributes	163
5.6.7 Events	164
5.6.8 Relationships.....	165
5.6.9 How to Handle Composite Objects.....	166
5.6.10 URIs for Fragments	167
5.6.11 Extending the Ontology	169
5.7 Making a Prototype Implementation.....	171
5.7.1 Metadata Engine	172
5.7.2 Managing Schemas	174
5.7.3 Why Use SQL and Especially SQLite as Persistent Storage.....	178
5.7.4 Harvester Manager.....	183
5.7.5 Context Engine	185
5.8 Facing Real Life	189
5.8.1 Memory Consumption	190
5.8.2 Speed	191
5.8.3 Example Usage of Metadata Engine	192

5.9 Metadata Processors	194
5.10 Summary	195
5.11 References	196
Chapter 6: User Interfaces for Mobile Media.....	199
6.1 Human in the Loop.....	202
6.1.1 Searching.....	204
6.1.2 User-Centred Design.....	205
6.2 Interacting with Mobile Personal Content	206
6.2.1 Music.....	207
6.2.2 Photos.....	209
6.2.3 Video.....	211
6.3 Interfaces for Mobile Media Devices	213
6.3.1 Why not Speech User Interfaces for Mobiles?.....	214
6.3.2 Graphical User Interfaces.....	215
6.3.3 Interaction Technologies and Techniques	216
6.3.4 UI structure and Navigation.....	223
6.3.5 Basic UI Components for Mobile Media.....	230
6.4 Designing a Mobile User Interface.....	242
6.4.1 Common UI Design Guidelines	243
6.4.2 The UI Design Process and Methods	246
6.4.3 Validating the Design.....	252
6.5 Performing the GEMS Tasks	254
6.5.1 Cross-GEMS Tasks: Browse and Search.....	254
6.5.2 Get Content.....	260
6.5.3 Enjoy Content.....	266
6.5.4 Maintain Content.....	270
6.5.5 Share Content.....	273
6.5.6 Multi-Tasking in GEMS.....	276
6.6 The Effect of Device Category on UI.....	277
6.7 Summary	279
6.8 References	280

Chapter 7: Application Outlook	285
7.1 General Characteristics of Mobile Applications.....	288
7.2 Location-Based Applications	289
7.2.1 Point of Interest	290
7.2.2 Wayfinding	291
7.2.3 Annotations.....	293
7.2.4 Location as Metadata.....	294
7.2.5 Location and Communities	295
7.2.6 Other Applications.....	298
7.2.7 Discussion.....	298
7.3 Sharing and Communities	300
7.3.1 Content Sharing.....	300
7.3.2 Content Rating.....	302
7.3.3 Self-Expression	303
7.3.4 YouTube	303
7.3.5 Video Sharing Comes of Age	304
7.4 Games	307
7.4.1 Mobile Games	308
7.4.2 Personal Content Types Related to Games.....	311
7.4.3 Modding.....	313
7.4.4 Discussion.....	314
7.5 Other Domains	317
7.5.1 Personal Training	317
7.5.2 Movie Subtitles	319
7.5.3 Flash, Comics, Animations	320
7.5.4 Discussion.....	321
7.6 References	321
Chapter 8: Timeshifting Life.....	323
8.1 Metadata in the Years to Come.....	324
8.1.1 Metadata Enablers.....	326

8.2 Metadata Creation: Top-Down or Bottom-Up?	329
8.3 Show Me the Money	331
8.4 Obstacles in Reaching the Vision	334
8.4.1 Technical Problems and Challenges	334
8.4.2 Human-Related Issues.....	335
8.5 From Databases to Lifebases	337
8.6 Move that Metadata!.....	341
8.7 References	342
 Epilogue	 343
 Index	 347