

Table of Contents

List of Figures	xvii
Acknowledgments	xix
Introduction: A Note to Instructors and Student-Teachers
About How to Interact With This Book	1
An Invitation to Philosophize	2
Clearing Away Misconceptions	4
On the Defunding & Persecution of Pseudo-Philosophy	6
On the Defunding & Persecution of Genuine Philosophy	7
The Active & Contemplative Aspects of Teaching & Philosophy	8
Philosophy & Teaching as "The Art of Dying"	10
The Structure of This Book & Its Accompanying "Exercises" for Askesis	13
Chapter One: Journaling, Self-Knowledge, and Education	18
The Teacher's Way of Life	19
Being Useless Is a Good Thing!	20
The Contemplative Life of the Teacher: Learning to Love What Is	20
The Active Life of the Teacher: Practicing Love of One's Neighbour	22
The Teaching Life & the Eight-Fold Path	22

Teaching for Education as Experimental Self-Knowledge:
Experiential Learning & Journaling	24
How Do I Experiment & Journal Using This Book?	26
Assessment: How Do I Know How I'm Doing?	27
Some Journal-Writing & Experimental Exemplars	27
Marcus Aurelius & Self-Education	28
A. G. Sertillanges: Finding Time as a Teacher to Be Contemplative	32
Friedrich Nietzsche: Aphoristic Wandering, Experimenting, & Yea-Saying	34
Louis L'Amour: Reading & the Adventurer's Education vs. Formal Schooling	38
Mohandas Gandhi: Developing Soul-Force Through Experiments With Truth	40
Eric Voegelin & Anamnesis	42
Henry David Thoreau's Experiments in Economy	44
Annie Dillard: Science, Philosophic Wonder, & the Art of Seeing	46
Henry Bugbee: Inward Mornings & Awakening	47
 Chapter Two: Plato's Meno and Education	 51
Unlearning in Order to Learn	51
Plato Was Not a Doctrine-Pusher or a Salesman!	53
"Let the Play Say the Thing"	53
Assume Authorial Infallibility & Logographic Necessity	54
The Players	55
Student Interest & the Attractions of Sophistry	57
Student Resistance to Philosophy & the Tyrannic Spirit in Education	59
On the Value of Thwarting Our Students' Dreams & Aspirations	60
Eristic vs. Dialectic in Conversational Education	61
Friendship, Flexibility, & Selflessness in Education	63
Appealing to Student "Interest" or Eros in Education	64
The Challenge of Taking-Up (Anairesis) Student Interests Philosophically	65
Perplexity, the Stingray, & Student Backlash	66
Storytelling, Breaking Down Resistance to Deep Learning, & Anamnesis	68
Anamnestic Inquiry in Education	70
Relaxing the Ego & the Search for a Teachable Wisdom	71
Persecution and Philosophy in Education	73
The Sophist as Our Current-Day Model for Teaching and Education	74
On Educational Orthodoxy vs. Genuine Knowledge	76

Our Powerlessness for Wisdom: The Need for Theia Moira	77
A Tale of Wonders (Mythos) for You to Discover in Your Own Life!	78
Chapter Three: Plato's Apology and Education	81
What Is an Apology?	81
Philosophy & Rhetoric	82
The Setting & Socrates's Accusers	82
Teacher Tact? Socrates's Unflattering Choice of Words & Standing Firm in Truth	84
Two Kinds of Accusers: The Old Ones First	85
Freedom to Speak the Truth & Writs of Impiety	86
Socrates's Human Wisdom & the Delphic Oracle	87
The Philosopher as Irritant to the Prideful	89
Student Anxiety at Exposed Ignorance	90
Socrates's Piety	91
Socrates's New Accusers	91
Socrates's Daimon	92
Fear of the Unknown as a Pretence to Knowledge	93
Teaching & the Love of Wisdom as the Art of Caring for Souls	94
The Dangers of Teaching With a Commitment to Loving Wisdom	95
The Courage to Teach From the Love of Wisdom	96
Socrates: Nobody's Teacher?	97
The Teacher's Knowledge & Sharing Our Love of Truth	98
"The Unexamined Life Is Not Worth Living" and Education	99
Chapter Four: Isocrates—The Father of Modern Education	102
Sophists Are Philosophers and Philosophers Are Sophists	102
Pleonexia and Education	103
Education as Seizing One's Advantage & the Key to Success	105
The Panhellenic Ideal: Success for the Nation Through Education	106
The Pursuit of Wisdom as Destructive to Personal & State Interests	107
The Love of Wisdom Makes Us Useless Losers	109
On Seeing Ourselves Through Understanding Isocrates	110
Chapter Five: Francis Bacon and Education	112
Bacon's Educational Legacy and His Quarrel With the Ancients	113
Science & Philosophy's "Unfitness"	114
Bacon's Two Beefs With Philosophy	115
Assessing Bacon's Beefs: Philosophy's Inability to Give Answers?	116

Contemplative Openness & Questioning in Philosophy vs. Science	118
Assessing Bacon's Beefs: Philosophy's Failure to Progress Knowledge?	120
Socrates, Anaxagoras, & Bacon's Critique of Empty "Notions" or Abstract Learning	122
Bacon's Understanding of Inquiry & the Dangers of Concocting Final Causes	124
The Spiritual Underpinnings of Bacon's Views on the Contemplative Aspect of Learning	127
Two Opposing Models for Seeing (Theoria) in Education?	130
Social Responsibility in Education	131
No Imago Dei : Knowledge of Nature vs. Self-Knowledge	133
 Chapter Six: Rene Descartes and Education	 138
One Cold Night in the Stove ...	138
Cats & the Nature of the Universe	140
The Problem of Seeing When Metaphysics Has Lost Its Grounding in Ordinary Experiences	142
Descartes's Desire to Get Past Scepticism ... to Certainty!	145
The Demand for Certainty in Your Classroom	146
Descartes's Famous Cogito Ergo Sum	148
The Role of Doubt & Its Relation to Intimations of the Sublime in the Classroom	149
The Dangers of Positivism in Your Classroom	151
On Knowing by Loving: Relational "I-Thou" Knowing	152
Classical Meditative Contemptus Mundi vs. Descartes's Spiritual Confusion	153
 Chapter Seven: John Locke and Education	 157
Not Primarily the 3Rs, but Character Formation	157
On the Use of Extrinsic Motivations: Honor-Loving vs. Rewards & Punishments	159
On Rules, Conformity, & Discipline in School	161
Human Nature vs. "21st Century Learning" Platitudes?	161
On the Need for Keen Seeing in the Classroom: Kidwatching	162
The Need to Respect Developmental Stages in Childhood	162
Tenderness, Relationality, & a Teacher's Good Character Matter Most in Education	163

Locke's Praise for Curiosity in Education	164
Locke on the Importance of Industriousness and Success in Education	165
Playing Til You Puke!	166
Authentic Education and Garnering Student Attention	167
Locke's " Tabula Rasa "	169
Locke on the Intellect and the Will	170
Locke on the Significance of "Ideas" and "Thinking" in Learning	171
Our Estrangement From Being	172
Locke's Waffling	173
Locke on the Understanding	173
Chapter Eight: Rousseau's Educational Ideas in the Emile	177
A Difficult Challenge in a Short Space	177
The Developmentalist Layout of Rousseau's Book	178
The Four Maxims of Education	178
Exposure to Ananke vs. Our Technological Faith	180
An Education in Freedom: Not Wills but Things	183
Rousseau & the Roots of Progressive Education	184
"Negative Education" Defined	185
On the Importance of Delaying Speculative/Abstract Reasoning in Education	186
On Delaying Moral Education in Pre-Adolescence	187
A Blurry Line Between Practical and Speculative Reasoning?	188
Guard Against the Child's Imagination!	189
Rousseau's Moral Difficulty With the Imagination in Childhood vs. Later in Life	192
Pre-Adolescence: A Special Time of Great Strength and Haste!	193
Hands-On Trades/Vocational Education vs. Liberal Arts Education	195
"Experiential Education" vs. Direct Instruction & Book Learning	195
The Great Change: The Teenage Years Begin	197
Teen Rebellion	198
A Second Birth & the Role of Amour-Propre	200
Modern vs. Ancient Psychology: Rousseau & Augustine on the Two Loves	200
The Sublimation of Amour-Propre & the Spiritualization of Love	202
What Is Love?	203
Modern Hollowness & the Meaning of "Experience" in Our Conceptions of Education	205

On the Problem of Idealization & Abstraction in Rousseau	207
Children & Cognizance of the Sublime	208
Studies for the Moral Education of Adolescents:
Philosophy With Teenagers?	209
Rousseau's Vision of Religious Education During Adolescence	210
Pity or Compassion as the Goal of Moral Education	211
The Portrayal of Women's Education in Book Five	212
The Sexist Double-Standard & a Topsy-Turvy Education for Women	213
A "Natural" Inequality	214
The Preservation of the Family as the Core of Society	214
Education to Ease the Burden of Women's Natural Inequality	215
On the Value of Self-Conquest for Human Happiness	215
A Sexual Symbiosis?	216
The Natural Reign of Women Over Men	217
Rousseau's "State of Nature" and the Sexual Double Standard Revisited?	218
Chapter Nine: John Dewey, Inquiry, and Progressive Education	223
Know Thy Dewey!	223
Dewey & the Importance of Student "Interest"	225
Democratic Education	226
Education as the Formation of "Fundamental Dispositions"	229
Inquiry-Based Learning	230
Education and Growth	231
The Steps of Inquiry & Authentic Learning Tasks	232
Thinking & Education Focused on the Manipulation/Mastery of World as Object	233
Interrogating Deweyan Notions of Inquiry, Thinking, & Mind	234
The Love of Truth & the Contemplative Life	235
Dewey on Experience, Loving Wisdom, & Seeing (Theoria)	236
Dewey's Polemic Against Philosophy & the Ancients	237
Taking the Scholé Out of School ...	238
Not Scholé , but Recreation and Work	239
Your Challenge as a Teacher Who Loves Wisdom	240
Chapter Ten: Maria Montessori and Seeing the Child in Education	242
Montessori's Epiphanic Moment of Seeing With Children	242
The Scientific, Experimentally-Minded Teacher	243
Teaching as Spiritual Practice	244

Teaching as Sacred Ritual & School as Sacred Space	245
The Importance of Passivity & Humility in Teaching	246
Epiphanic Seeing in the Classroom	248
Children Can Teach Us the Daily Askesis of Patience & Appreciation	250
On the Pursuit of Wisdom Through Seeing Children	251
On the Importance of Being Seen	252
“No Guru, No Method, No Teacher”	252
On Becoming No Teacher: An Askesis for Leaving the Ego Behind	253
The Art of Dying: Teaching as Making a Holocaust of Oneself?	255
On the Importance of a Learning Environment: Don’t Be Stingy!	256
Respecting the Rhythms of Childhood	257
The Challenge of Educational Transformation in the School System	257
Adult Blindness vs. the Child’s Keen Ability to See	258
The Sensitive Periods	259
The Secret, Hidden Movements of Soul Towards Self-Realization in Childhood	260
Work (Ascholia) and Leisure (Schole) in Education	261
The Precious Work of Children Should Be the Precious Concern of Teachers!	262
“The Intelligence of Love” Among Children	263
On Forgiveness as an Askesis	263
On the Importance of a Child’s Work in School	264
“Normalization” & the Child’s Practice of Silence	265
Childhood and “Incarnation”	266
The Meaning & Primacy of Work Among Children	267
Montessori’s Critique of Schole or Leisure in Childhood	268
On the Solitude of Work	270
Hannah Arendt vs. Montessori on the Nature of Work & the Active Life in Education	271
Chapter Eleven: Jean Piaget, Constructivism, and Seeing the Child in Education	277
Our Debt to Piaget in Education	277
Piaget’s Developmentalism vs. the “Factory” & “Banking” Models of Education	278
Keen Scientific Observation & Seeing the Child	279
A Gloss on the Stages of Childhood Development	280
Slowing Things Down	281
On “Egocentrism” & Lack of “Self-Consciousness” Among Children	282

Animism, Romancing, Methexis , and Artificialism	283
Developing Consciousness of Subjectivity & Teaching Constructively	285
On Constructivism & “Coherence” vs. “Correspondence Theories” in Education Today	285
A Philosophic Critique of Coherence Theory & Piagetian Constructivism	287
On the Hubris of Constructivism	289
The Ideological Will Towards Systems in Modern Education	290
Disconnect Between Piaget’s Developmentalism & the Pursuit of Wisdom	291
Grown-Ups and Children as Partners in Loving Wisdom	292
On the Value of Cultivated Innocence & Institutionalized Naivete for Wisdom’s Pursuit	292
The Primacy of I-It Knowing in Piaget’s Conception of Knowledge	294
 Chapter Twelve: Jacques Maritain and Education	 296
Why Read Maritain?	296
Affirmations of Progressive Education	297
Education Concerns the Pursuit of Wisdom & the Love of Truth	298
An Education for Freedom	299
On the Delusions of Modern Technological Society	301
Pride (Hubris) & the Need to Be Freed From the Self Through Education	302
A Liberal Arts Curriculum for Schools	303
On the Meaning of “Person” in Maritain’s Work	305
On the Meaning of “Personality”	306
On the Meaning of Individuality	307
Tension in the Soul & the Need to Distinguish the Two Poles of Our Being in Education	307
Our Blindness in Education Inhibits Genuine Self-Knowledge	309
On Seeing the Whole Child	309
Student Hostility Towards Suffering the Tensions Necessary for Genuine Self-Knowledge	310
On Integrating the Investigation of Personhood Into Human Rights Education	311
Our Capax Omnium	313
On the Significance of Theoria or Contemplative Seeing in Education	314

On the Relation of the Intellect to the Will	315
On the Role of Education in Relation to the Intellect & the Will	315
On the Indirect Education of the Will	317
Chapter Thirteen: An Aporetic Ending? Assessment and the Pursuit of Wisdom in Education	319
Wisdom: The One Needful Thing	319
What Is Wisdom?	320
Wisdom Can't Be Assessed Like Other Kinds of Knowledge	321
On the Meaning of Philosophizing	322
School Assessment as Caustic to Philosophizing	322
Genuine Philosophizing as Spiritual Exercise (Askesis): A Violation of "Taboos" in Education	324
On the Need to Recover a Vocabulary of Wisdom-Seeking	325
The Interplay of Discursive Reasoning & Contemplation in the Pursuit of Wisdom	328
Noetic vs. Dianoetic Education in Relation to Assessment	329
Philosophic Seeing in School: The Need for Contemplation (Theoria)	330
On the Incapacity of the Assessor's Gaze	331
On the Problem of Assessing in Relation to Wisdom's Pursuit	333
Tensions Between the Universal Drive to Assess vs. the Pursuit of Wisdom	334
On Learning You Don't Know: There's No Knowing to Assess in Wisdom-Seeking!	335
No Possibility for Error Renders Assessment a Silly Thing	335
The Heart of Education Transcends Our Discriminating (Assessing) Consciousness	336
Beginner's Mind as Idiocy From the Assessor's Summative Vantage Point	336
No Progress! Formative Assessment as Folly in Relation to Wisdom's Pursuit	337
Assessor's Concerns for Attainments & Progress Are Counter-Productive in the "Art of Dying"	338
No Seeking, No Encouragement, No Method, No Way There's No Self to Attain the "Learning Outcomes"	338
an Assessor Would Like to See You Attain!	338
Wisdom Is Not Earned but a Gift: Not Through Activity & Effort, but Requiring Passive Receptivity	339

You Shouldn't Assess What Cannot Be Taught	340
Conclusion: On Walking Off to Nowhere to Do Nothing	340
Appendix A: Assessment Tools	347
1. Student Journal (Teacher-Assessed Component)	347
2. Student Journal (Student-Assessed Component)	347
Appendix B: Experiments for Philosophical Askesis	357
A Suggested (but Non-Exhaustive!) List of Journaling Activities	357
Index	373