

Table of Contents

Introduction	9
 Chapter 1
Selected aspects of subjective development in the area of art
1.1. Subjective development in light of select educational and psychological theories	13
1.2. Aesthetic experience as a kind of subjective experience in the area of art	18
1.3. Subjective experience and narrative as a source of subjective development accompanying visual creation – constructivist approach	21
1.4. Visual thinking as a source of subjective experience in art	26
1.5. Summary	31
 Chapter 2
The original concept of the author's creative workshop by Eugeniusz Józefowski
2.1. Education by art – the need for a new term	33
2.2. Creative workshop in Polish practice of education through art	36
2.3. Creative workshop as a form of artistic production in the field of contemporary art	39
2.4. Elements of creative workshop	43
2.5. Personal development in the creative workshop – an original model of Eugeniusz Józefowski	45
2.6. The role of imagination creative workshop	50
2.7. Visual thinking in creative workshop	54
2.8. The role of group interaction in a creative workshop	56
2.9. The concept and role of the work in the author's concept of creative workshop	58
 Chapter 3
The concept of the creative workshop "Deconstructions of identity"
3.1. Theoretical assumptions	61
3.2. Workshop assumptions	65

Chapter 4

Methodological assumptions of the research on subjective development in creative workshop

4.1. Research overview	75
4.2. Research problems and hypotheses	76
4.3. Variables, indicators and research tools	78
4.4. Method, research and statistical procedures	81
4.5. Sample characteristics	83

Chapter 5

Identity and its development in the creative workshop

5.1. Multidimensionality of identity	85
5.2. Selected models of identity	87
5.2.1. Identity-health model on the example of Erik H. Erikson's concept	87
5.2.2. Identity-interaction	88
5.2.3. Worldview-identity	91
5.3. Stages of identity	92
5.4. Creative workshop as a space of identity development	94
5.4.1. Problems of identity formation in post-modern reality – theoretical assumptions of the research	94
5.4.2. Research overview	96
5.4.3. Influence of workshop inspiration on self-identity	97
5.4.4. Differentiation of the sense of identity under the influence of visual competence and pedagogical orientation	99
5.4.5. Differentiation of the contents of identity under the influence of workshop inspiration	99
5.5. Summary and Conclusions	111

Chapter 6

Creative workshop as space for development of creativity

6.1. Theoretical assumptions	113
6.2. Methodological assumptions	114
6.3. Influence of experiences initiated in the creative workshop	115
6.4. Competencies in fine arts and pedagogical orientation and the variation in creativity level	116
6.5. Discussion of results	117

Chapter 7

Creative workshop as a space of cognitive development

7.1. Influence of workshop inspiration on the sense of coherence	119
--	-----

7.1.1. Methodological premises of the research	121
7.1.2. Impact of workshop inspiration on the level of the sense of coherence and its components	121
7.1.3. Competencies in fine arts and pedagogical orientation and the sense of coherence and diversity of its components	123
7.1.4. Discussion of results	124
7.2. Impact of workshop inspiration on the level of self-regard	125
7.2.1. Theoretical assumptions of the research	125
7.2.2. Influence of workshop inspiration on self-regard	127
7.2.3. Competencies in fine arts and pedagogical orientation and the variation in self-regard	129
7.2.4. Discussion of results and conclusions	130

Chapter 8

Creative workshop as an area of emotional development

8.1. Theoretical assumptions of the research	134
8.2. Methodological assumptions	136
8.3. The impact of creative workshop on the level of wellbeing	136
8.4. Competencies in fine arts and pedagogical orientation and the differentiation of wellbeing in the creative workshop	137
8.5. Discussion of results and conclusions	138

Chapter 9

Content and form of visual narrative initiated in the creative workshop

9.1. Theoretical basis of research	139
9.2. Methodological premises of the research	143
9.3. Analysis of content of visual narrative in particular workshop meetings	144
9.3.1. Meeting 1 "The first time I became myself"	144
9.3.1.1. Form and content of the visual narrative	144
9.3.1.2. Analysis of the content of visual message	147
9.3.2. Meeting 2 "All that I am now"	151
9.3.2.1. Form and content of the visual narrative	151
9.3.2.2. Analysis of the content of visual message	154
9.3.3. Meeting 3 "Something that circulates between us"	157
9.3.3.1. Form and content of the visual narrative	157
9.3.3.2. Analysis of the content of visual message	162
9.3.4. Meeting 4: "The most optimistic version of my existence"	165
9.3.4.1. Form and content of the visual narrative	165
9.3.4.2. Analysis of the content of visual message	167
9.3.5. Meeting 5: "My real life gain, my true value"	169

9.3.5.1. Form and content of the visual narrative	169
9.3.5.2. Analysis of the content of visual message	172
Chapter 10
Aesthetic experience in creative workshop as a space for personal development – qualitative research
10.1. Research objectives	176
10.2. Pictorial thinking and cognitive and emotional reorganization constituting subjective experience in a creative workshop	178
10.2.1. Participant 49.II.6.NP	178
10.2.2. Participant 22.I.2.P	189
10.2.3. Participant 53.II.7.NP	204
10.2.4. Participant 70.II.8.NP	215
10.3. Visual thinking in creative workshop – summary	229
Chapter 11
Workshop as a space for creative interaction
11.1. Research objectives	235
11.2. Participant 32.I.3.P	235
11.3. Conclusion	248
Conclusion	249
References	251
Attachments
Source materials from the research project 2011/03/B/HS2/03496
1. Identity questionnaire	265
2. Introduction	267
3. Creative workshops “Deconstructions of identity”. Quotations from participants (selection)	269
4. Reproductions of the workshop participants’ works	441