

Contents

List of figures	xi
List of tables	xiii
List of contributors	xv
Introduction	1
Karen Christensen and Doria Pilling
PART I
Nordic countries	13
1 Long-term care services in Norway: a historical sociological perspective	15
Karen Christensen and Kari Wærness
2 Revisiting the public care model: the Danish case of free choice in home care	29
Tine Rostgaard
3 Organizational trends impacting on everyday realities: the case of Swedish eldercare	45
Anneli Stranz and Marta Szebehely
PART II
Northern and Western Europe	59
4 Long-term care reforms in the Netherlands: care work at stake	61
Barbara Da Roit

5	The English social care workforce: the vexed question of low wages and stress Shereen Hussein	74
6	The personalization and marketization of home care services for older people in England Kate Baxter	88
7	The development of an ambiguous care work sector in France: between professionalization and fragmentation Blanche Le Bihan and Alis Sopadzhian	102
8	Care provision inside and outside the professional care system: the case of long-term care insurance in Germany Hildegard Theobald	116
9	Employing migrant care workers for 24-hour care in private households in Austria: benefits and risks for the long-term care system August Österle	130
10	Migrant care workers in Italian households: recent trends and future perspectives Mirko Di Rosa, Francesco Barbabella, Arianna Poli, Sara Santini and Giovanni Lamura	142
PART III
Eastern Europe		157
11	Post-socialist eldercare in the Czech Republic: institutions, families, and the market Adéla Suralová and Eva Šlesingerová	159
12	Imbalance between demand and supply of long-term care: the case of post-communist Poland Stanisława Golinowska and Agnieszka Sowa-Kofta	171
PART IV
Between Europe and Asia		185
13	Long-term care in Turkey: challenges and opportunities Sema Oglak	187

PART VAsia

- 14 The emergence of the eldercare industry in China: progress and challenges 203
Xiying Fan, Heying Jenny Zhan and Qi Wang
- 15 Challenges of care work under the new long-term care insurance for elderly people in South Korea 218
Yongho Chon
- 16 Migrant live-in care workers in Taiwan: multiple roles, cultural functions, and the new division of care labour 228
Li-Fang Liang
- 17 Has the long-term care insurance contributed to de-familialization? Familialization and marketization of eldercare in Japan 241
Yayoi Saito
- 18 Care robots in Japanese elderly care: cultural values in focus 256
Nobu Ishiguro

PART VINorth America

- 19 Long-term services and supports for the elderly in the United States: a complex system of perverse incentives 273
Candace Howes
- 20 Complexities, tensions, and promising practices: work in Canadian long-term residential care 289
Pat Armstrong and Tamara Daly

PART VIIAustralia

- 21 Reforms to long-term care in Australia: a changing and challenging landscape 303
Jane Mears

PART VIII

Latin America

22 Facing the challenges of population longevity but not being ready: the case of Argentina

Nélida Redondo

Index

Note: References are in the language of the first title, unless stated otherwise.

319

332