

CONTENTS

Come Seven

ix

PART ONE HEAVEN AND EARTH

1. Happy Thoughts on a Sunny Day in New York City 3
2. Dousing Diminutive Dennis's Debate (or DDDD = 2000) 11
3. The Celestial Mechanic and the Earthly Naturalist 24
4. The Late Birth of a Flat Earth 38

PART TWO LITERATURE AND SCIENCE

5. The Monster's Human Nature 53
6. The Tooth and Claw Centennial 63
7. Sweetness and Light 76

PART THREE ORIGIN, STABILITY, AND EXTINCTION

ORIGIN

8. In the Mind of the Beholder 93
9. Of Tongue Worms, Velvet Worms, and Water Bears 108

STABILITY

10. Cordelia's Dilemma 123
11. Lucy on the Earth in Stasis 133

EXTINCTION

12. Dinosaur in a Haystack 147
13. Jove's Thunderbolts 159

PART FOUR WRITING ABOUT SNAILS

14. Poe's Greatest Hit 173
15. The Invisible Woman 187
16. Left Snails and Right Minds 202

PART FIVE
THE GLORY OF MUSEUMS

17. Dinomania	221
18. Cabinet Museums: Alive, Alive, O!	238
19. Evolution by Walking	248
20. The Razumovsky Duet	260
21. Four Antelopes of the Apocalypse	272

PART SIX
DISPARATE FACES OF EUGENICS

22. Does the Stoneless Plum Instruct the Thinking Reed?	285
23. The Smoking Gun of Eugenics	296
24. The Most Unkindest Cut of All	309

PART SEVEN
EVOLUTIONARY THEORY, EVOLUTIONARY STORIES

THEORY

25. Can We Complete Darwin's Revolution?	325
26. A Humongous Fungus Among Us	335
27. Speaking of Snails and Scales	344

STORIES

28. Hooking Leviathan by Its Past	359
29. A Special Fondness for Beetles	377
30. If Kings Can Be Hermits, Then We Are All Monkeys' Uncles	388
31. Magnolias from Moscow	401

PART EIGHT
LINNAEUS AND DARWIN'S GRANDFATHER

32. The First Unmasking of Nature	415
33. Ordering Nature by Budding and Full-Breasted Sexuality	427
34. Four Metaphors in Three Generations	442

Bibliography	459
Index	469