

Contents

List of Illustrative Materials	xii
Preface and Acknowledgements	xiv
1 Introduction	1
2 Isms	9
2.1 Introduction	9
2.2 Realism and anti-realism	10
2.3 Nominalism, idealism	14
2.4 Empiricism and positivism	15
2.5 Instrumentalism, conventionalism, pragmatism	18
2.6 Essentialism, objectivism	19
2.7 Critical theory	21
2.8 Postmodernism	22
2.9 Interpretivism	23
2.10 Critical realism	24
2.11 Naturalism	26
2.12 Constructivism	27
2.13 Realism and relativism in ethics	30
2.14 A few isms not in Figure 2.1	32
3 What Is an Explanation?	36
3.1 Introduction	36
3.2 Language and the world	37
3.3 The attempt to produce a model of explanation	45
3.4 Proximate and ultimate; type and token	50
3.5 Description, causation and understanding	55
3.6 Generalizations, laws and mechanisms	60
3.7 Conclusion	67
4 What Is a Theory?	68
4.1 Introduction	68
4.2 Organizing perspectives	72
4.3 Explanatory theories or models	79
4.4 Explanatory theory: non-formal models	88

4.5	Mechanisms and constraints	94
4.6	Cumulative and non-cumulative research	98
4.7	Conclusion	100
5	Hypotheses and Theory Testing	102
5.1	Introduction	102
5.2	How evidence bears on theories: preliminaries	106
5.3	Confirmation, induction and theory	107
5.4	Hempel's paradox and Popper's falsifiability	116
5.5	Concepts are theory-laden	128
5.6	Conclusion	130
6	Narratives, Mechanisms and Causation	133
6.1	Introduction	133
6.2	Causation as narrative	134
6.3	Dichotomies in causal accounts	138
6.4	Case studies and causation: process tracing	151
6.5	Conclusion	157
7	Methods and Methodologies	160
7.1	Introduction	160
7.2	Qualitative and quantitative research	163
7.3	Data access and research transparency	166
7.4	Policy-oriented research	169
7.5	Different methods: institutional-structural	170
7.6	Different methods: behavioural	174
7.7	Different methods: interpretative	181
7.8	Conclusion	188
8	Concepts and Conceptual Analysis	189
8.1	Introduction	189
8.2	Principles of conceptual analysis	191
8.3	The existence of concepts	201
8.4	Natural kinds	203
8.5	Measurement	206
8.6	Some principles of classification	208
8.7	Contests and contestability of concepts	212
9	Analytic Political Philosophy	213
9.1	Introduction	213
9.2	Interpreting the work of dead people	216
9.3	Moral problems and grand theory	223

9.4	Conceptual analysis, thought experiments and intuition pumps	224
9.5	Conclusion	240
10	Political Science as a Vocation	243
10.1	Political science	243
10.2	Belief and opinion	244
10.3	Surface and structure	245
10.4	The profession	250

References	253
------------	-----

Index	275
-------	-----