
Contents

Abbreviations xiii

Contributors xv

SECTION A

Introduction to communication studies in cancer and palliative medicine

1 The history of communication skills knowledge and training 3

Mack Lipkin, Jr.

2 Journeys to the centre of empathy: The authentic core of communication skills 10

Renee Lim and Stewart Dunn

3 Models of communication skills training and their practical implications 16

Richard F. Brown, Alexander Wuensch, and Carma L. Bylund

4 Shared decision-making, decision aids, and the role of values in treatment decision-making 23

Amiram Gafni and Cathy Charles[†]

5 The ethics of communication in cancer and palliative care 28

Laura A. Siminoff and Maria D. Thomson

6 Gender, power, and non-verbal communication 33

Marianne Schmid Mast, Valérie Carrard, and Judith A. Hall

7 Medical student training in communication skills 38

Gregory Makoul, Joshua Hauser, and Henry Schneiderman

8 Training patients to reach their communication goals: A concordance perspective 45

Thomas A. D'Agostino, Carma L. Bylund, and Betty Chewning

9 Cancer patients' use of the internet for cancer information and support 51

Emily B. Peterson, Megan J. Shen, Jennifer Gueguen Weber, and Carma L. Bylund

10 Audio-recording cancer consultations for patients and their families—putting evidence into practice 56

Thomas F. Hack, Kinta Beaver, and Penelope Schofield

11 Learner-centred communication training 61

Suzanne M. Kurtz and Lara J. Cooke

SECTION B

A core curriculum for communication skills training for oncology and palliative care

12 Breaking bad news 71

Walter F. Baile and Patricia A. Parker

13 Discussing prognosis and communicating risk 77

Phyllis N. Butow, Martin H.N. Tattersall, and Martin Stockler

14 Achieving shared treatment decisions 83

Martin H.N. Tattersall and David W. Kissane

15 Responding to difficult emotions 91

Jennifer Philip and David W. Kissane

16 Denial and communication 97

Linda Sheahan and David W. Kissane

17 Communicating with relatives in cancer care 103

Isabelle Merckaert, Yves Libert, Aurore Liénard, and Darius Razavi

18 Conducting a family meeting 109

David W. Kissane and Courtney Hempton

19 Communication about coping as a survivor 118

Linda E. Carlson, Janine Giese-Davis, and Barry D. Bultz

20 Dealing with cancer recurrence 126

Lidia Schapira and Lauren Goldstein

21 Introducing or transitioning patients to palliative care 131

A. Katalin Urban, Josephine M. Clayton, and David W. Kissane

22 Talking about dying: End-of-life communication training 139

Tomer T. Levin and Alison Wiesenthal

SECTION C

Nursing

23 Communication skills education and training in pre-registration BSc Nursing 149

Deborah Lewis, Marie O'Boyle-Duggan, and Susan Poultney

24 SAGE & THYME 155

Michael Connolly

25 The implementation of advanced communication skills training for senior healthcare professionals in Northern Ireland: The challenges and rewards 162

Anne Finn, Emma King, and Susie Wilkinson

26 Training facilitators to deliver an advanced communication course for senior healthcare professionals in cancer and palliative care 168

Susie Wilkinson and Anita Roberts

27 Communication in the context of cancer as a chronic disease 175

Patsy Yates

28 Advancing family communication skills in oncology nursing 181

Talia Zaider, Shira Hichenberg, and Lauren Latella

29 Ambulatory care nurses responding to depression 187

Anthony De La Cruz, Richard F. Brown, and Steve Passik

30 Communication in the last days or hours of life 193

Anita Roberts

31 E-learning as a medium for communication skills training 200

Hannah Waterhouse, Melanie Burton, and Julia Neal

SECTION D

A specialty curriculum for oncology

32 Enrolment in clinical trials 209

Richard F. Brown and Terrance Albrecht

33 Working as a multidisciplinary team 215

Jane Turner

34 Communicating genetic risk 221

Clara Gaff, Louise Keogh, and Elizabeth Lobb

35 Supporting patients considering reconstructive surgery 226

Diana Harcourt and Alex Clarke

36 Discussing unproven therapies 232

Penelope Schofield and Michael Jefford

37 Promoting treatment adherence 239

Kelly B. Haskard-Zolnieriek, Tricia A. Miller, and M. Robin DiMatteo

38 Communication strategies and skills for optimum pain control 244

Melanie Lovell and Frances Boyle

39 Discussing adverse outcomes with patients 249

Andy S.L. Tan and Thomas H. Gallagher

40 A health equity care model for improving communication and patient-centred care: A focus on oncology care and diversity 257

Kimlin Tam Ashing, Noé Rubén Chávez, and Marshalee George

41 Challenges in communicating with ethnically diverse populations: The role of health literacy 265

Bejoy C. Thomas and Rebecca L. Malhi

42 Communication and cancer-related infertility 271

Zeev Rosberger, Sylvie Aubin, Barry D. Bultz, and Peter Chan

43 Communicating about sexuality in cancer care 277

John W. Robinson, Joshua J. Lounsberry, and Lauren M. Walker

SECTION E

Communication issues across the disciplines

44 Screening for distress: A communication tool that highlights patient concerns and facilitates psychosocial programme development 287

Barry D. Bultz, Paul B. Jacobsen, and Matthew Loscalzo

45 Social work support in settings of crisis 293

Carrie Lethborg and Grace H. Christ

46 Communication in cancer radiology 299

Kimberly Feigin and Donna D'Alessio

47 Communication in surgical oncology 305

Amanda Tristram

48 Communication in non-surgical oncology 308

Lai Cheng Yew and E. Jane Maher

49 Palliative medicine: Communication to promote life near the end of life 315

Nicola Pease

50 Communication issues in pastoral care and chaplaincy 324

Peter Speck and Christopher Herbert

51 Communication in oncology pharmacy: The challenge of treatment adherence 328

Bethan Tranter and Simon Noble

52 Communication challenges with the elderly 334

Ronald D. Adelman, Michele G. Greene, and Milagros D. Silva

53 Communicating with children when a parent is dying 344

Cynthia W. Moore and Paula K. Rauch

SECTION F

Education and international initiatives in communication training

54 Facilitating communication role play sessions: Essential elements and training facilitators 351

Ruth Manna, Carma L. Bylund, Richard F. Brown, Barbara Lubrano di Ciccone, and Lyuba Konopasek

55 The role of the actor in medical education 357

Paul Heinrich

56 The Oncotalk/Vitaltalk model 363

Robert M. Arnold, Anthony L. Back, Walter F. Baile, Kelly A. Edwards, and James A. Tulsky

57 The Swiss model 369

Friedrich Stiefel, Jürg Bernhard, Gabriella Bianchi, Lilo Dietrich, Christoph Hürny, Alexander Kiss, Brigitta Wössmer, and Céline Bourquin

58 The United Kingdom general practitioner and palliative care model 375

Simon Noble and Nicola Pease

59 The Belgian experience in communication skills training 381

Isabelle Merckaert, Yves Libert, and Darius Razavi

60 Communication in cancer care in Europe and EU policy initiatives 386

Luigi Grassi and Luzia Travado

61 Communication skills training in Arab countries: Opportunities and challenges in the Qatar experience 392

Carma L. Bylund, Stephen Scott, and Khalid Alyafei

SECTION G

Research in cancer communication

62 Evaluating communication skills training courses 399

Lyuba Konopasek, Marcy Rosenbaum, John Encandela, and Kathy Cole-Kelly

63 Qualitative approaches to clinician–patient communication 405

Felicia Roberts

64 Issues in coding cancer consultations: Interaction analysis systems 410

Phyllis N. Butow

65 The Roter Interaction Analysis System: Applicability within the context of cancer and palliative care 415

Debra L. Roter, Sarina R. Isenberg, and Lauren M. Czaplicki

Index 421