

Contents

Chapter 1: Introduction	1
The myth of the 'bad' language learner	1
Approaches	5
Analysis	7
ELT methodology: principled eclecticism	10
Further reading	11
Chapter 2: The 'good' language learner	12
Learner training	14
The treatment of error	21
Towards learner autonomy	26
Further reading	27
Chapter 3: The role of the teacher	28
Situation and personality: the 'SWOT' test	29
The voice of authority	34
The liberated teacher	37
Further reading	39
Chapter 4: Keeping the class together	40
The open space	41
Time: friend or enemy?	43
Cross-checking	44
The power of the written word	45
Nominating	46
Eye contact or star-gazing?	46
'Our teacher just goes on and on'	46
The blackboard	47
Further reading	48
Chapter 5: Building on what they know	49
Cultural background, cultural foreground	49
Making use of L1	61
Conclusion	70
Further reading	70

Chapter 6: From closed to open-ended exercises	71
So-called 'closed' exercises	74
Naturally open-ended exercises	79
Further reading	83
Chapter 7: Communicative activities	84
Re-ordering	87
Questionnaires	91
Open-ended pictures	95
Information transfer	99
Further reading	102
Chapter 8: Drama techniques	103
Breaking the ice	104
Getting to know each other better	106
Getting up and doing it	108
Further reading	119
Chapter 9: The pleasure principle 1	120
Games	120
Quizzes	123
Stories	126
Further reading	131
Chapter 10: The pleasure principle 2	132
Jokes	132
Puzzles	138
Further reading	141
Chapter 11: Conclusion	142
A mixed ability glossary	149
Bibliography	160
Appendix	163