

Contents

	Acknowledgements	vi
Chapter 1	The Context	1
	Notes	5
Chapter 2	The Project	10
	Background
	The Structural-Oral-Situational method	10
	Preparatory discussion	12
	Initial perception	14
	Classes taught	18
	Teachers	21
	Principles and procedures
	Teaching in the first year	22
	Task and pre-task	23
	Language control	26
	Meaning-focused activity	27
	Teaching in subsequent years	28
	Review seminars	30
	Evaluation	30
	Illustrative tasks
	1 Railway timetables	31
	2 Instructions to draw	33
	3 Interpreting rules	34
	4 Beginners' tasks	37
	Task sequencing	39
	Notes	40
Chapter 3	Teaching	46
	Reasoning-gap activity	46
	Pre-task and task	53
	Reasonable challenge	55
	Teacher's language	57

	Learners' language	59
	Incidental correction	61
	Notes	63
Chapter 4	Learning
	Linguistic competence	68
	Acquisition and deployment	69
	System-development	71
	Rule-focused activity	72
	Planned progression	73
	Pre-selection	73
	Meaningful practice	74
	Language awareness	75
	Comprehension and production	78
	Groupwork	81
	Notes	83
Chapter 5	Syllabus and Materials
	Syllabus as an operational construct	86
	Syllabus as an illuminative construct	89
	Syllabus as an instrument of organizational control	90
	Syllabus as a document of public consent	91
	Simple and sophisticated syllabuses	92
	Materials	94
	Coverage	96
	Teaching aids	97
	Teachers' competence	98
	Notes	100
Chapter 6	Pedagogic change
	Sense of plausibility	103
	Impact of innovations	105
	Language teaching specialism	107
	Eclecticism	107
	Notes	109
	Bibliography	111

Appendices

Ia	Descriptions of S-O-S pedagogy	114
Ib		117
II	Initial perceptions of the project	120
III	Schools involved in the project	122
IVa	Transcripts of project lessons	123
IVb		131
V	List of task-types used on the project	138
VI	'Evaluation of the Bangalore Project' by Alan Beretta and Alan Davies (originally published in the ELT Journal , Volume 39/2 April 1985.)	144