

Contents

The author and series editors	vi
Introduction	vii
 Section One: Understanding speaking
1 Speaking as a skill	3
1.1 Knowledge and skill	3
1.2 Oral skills and interaction	5
2 Differences between speech and writing	10
2.1 Introduction	10
2.2 Processing conditions of speech and writing	11
2.3 Reciprocity conditions of speech and writing	12
3 Production skills	14
3.1 Introduction	14
3.2 Facilitation	15
3.3 Compensation	18
3.4 Conclusion	20
4 Interaction skills	22
4.1 Introduction	22
4.2 Routines	23
4.3 Negotiation skills	27
4.4 Negotiation of meaning	29
4.5 Management of interaction	35
4.6 Conclusion	41
5 Learner strategies of communication	42
5.1 Introduction	42
5.2 Achievement strategies	44
5.3 Reduction strategies	47
6 A checklist of skills	49

Section Two: The methodology of oral interaction
7	Introduction 53
8	Oral skills: methodological objectives 55
8.1	Introduction 55
8.2	Rivers and Temperley's view 55
8.3	Littlewood's view 61
8.4	Interaction criteria 65
8.5	Conclusion 66
9	Interaction activities 67
9.1	Introduction 67
9.2	Interaction activities: Littlewood 67
9.3	Interaction activities: Harmer 70
9.4	Interaction activities: Rivers and Temperley 72
9.5	Interaction activities: Ur 74
10	Activities for oral practice 76
10.1	Introduction 76
10.2	Information-gap activities 76
10.3	Communication games 78
10.4	Simulations 80
10.5	Project-based interaction activities 83
11	Students' production in interaction activities 85
12	Interaction skills in oral language methodology 93
12.1	Introduction 93
12.2	Accuracy and interaction in the curriculum 93
12.3	Integrating accuracy and interaction skills 94
12.4	Classroom organization and oral skills 96

Section Three: Exploring oral interaction in the classroom

13	Planning a project	103
13.1	Introduction	103
13.2	Collecting data	103
14	Exploring aspects of oral methodology	107
14.1	Exploring oral language	107
14.2	Exploring oral interaction activities	108
14.3	Exploring oral interaction and learners' level	111
14.4	Exploring learners' perceptions of activities	112
14.5	Exploring learners' oral language needs	113
	Glossary	115
	Further reading	118
	Bibliography	119
	Index	122