

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Notes on Contributors	xi
Introduction: Nation, State and Faith in the Post-Communist Era Arolda Elbasani	1
Part I The Prevailing Public Discourse on Islam
1 Islam and Orientalism in Contemporary Albania Enis Sulstarova	23
2 Anti-Islamic Public Discourse in Contemporary Greece: The Reproduction of Religious Panic Alexandros Sakellariou	42
3 Faith and Politics in Kosovo: The Status of Religious Communities in a Secular Country Jeton Mehmeti	62
Part II Muslims' Pursuit of Faith and Religiosity
4 The Loudspeaker of Faith in the 'Calm' City: Islam and Urban Diversity in the Contemporary Balkans Jelena Tošić	83
5 Muslim Women's Dress Practices in Bosnia-Herzegovina: Localizing Islam through Everyday Lived Practice Andreja Mesarič	103
6 The Multiple Voices of Bulgaria's Unofficial Islamic Leaders Laura J. Olson	122
7 Love and Boundaries: Inter-Faith and Inter-Ethnic Relationships among Macedonian-Speaking Muslims Anna Zadrožna	142
8 'Holiness' Constructed: Anonymous Saints in the Popular Traditions of Muslim Roma Communities in the Balkans Ksenia Trofimova	163

Part III Religious Beliefs, Public Arguments and Legitimacy

9	Rhetorical Strategies of Kosovo's Imams in the Fight for 'Women's Rights'	185
	Behar Sadriu
10	Public Expressions of Bosnian Muslim Religiosity and Lived Faith: The Cases of Friday Prayer and Hijab	204
	Julianne Funk
11	Faith, Fatherland or Both? Accommodationist and Neo-Fundamentalist Islamic Discourses in Albania	222
	Cecilie Endresen
	Conclusions	242
	Olivier Roy
	Index	252