

CONTENTS

	Foreword by Javier Solana	xii
	Acknowledgements	xiv
	List of Abbreviations	xv
	PART I Conceptual Framework	1
1	Introduction	3
1.1	Introduction	3
1.2	New Wars	5
1.3	Legality and Legitimacy	19
1.4	Models of Security	25
1.5	Plan of the Book	34
2	Sovereignty and the Authority to Use Force	37
2.1	Introduction	37
2.2	The Changing Nature of Sovereignty	39
2.3	Right Authority and the Legitimate Use of Force	64
2.4	Alternative Conceptions of World Order and the Transformation of Sovereignty	78
2.5	Conclusion	85
3	The Relevance of International Law	87
3.1	Introduction	87
3.2	Theories of Compliance	93
3.3	Institutions and Networks	104
3.4	Processes for Implementation and Enforcement	110
3.5	Conclusion: Continuing Questions	124
	PART II Jus ad Bellum	127
4	Self-Defence as a Justification for War: The Geo-Political and War on Terror Models	129
4.1	Introduction	129
4.2	Background: From Just War to the UN Charter	131

4.3	Conditions for Self-Defence	135
4.4	Armed Attack by or against Whom?	155
4.5	Reinterpreting the Right to Self-Defence	167
4.6	Conclusion	173
5	The Humanitarian Model for Recourse to Force	175
5.1	Introduction	175
5.2	Humanitarian Intervention	176
5.3	The Responsibility to Protect	195
5.4	The Responsibility to Protect/Humanitarian Intervention: Does It Uphold Humanitarian Norms?	211
5.5	Conclusion	224
	PART III Jus in Bello	227
6	How Force Is Used	229
6.1	Introduction	229
6.2	The Jus in Bello Tradition	231
6.3	Codification of International Humanitarian Law: Geneva and Hague Law	233
6.4	The Basic Principles of IHL	237
6.5	The Challenges of IHL	242
6.6	Human Rights Law and IHL as Complementary Regimes	265
6.7	Conclusion	282
7	Weapons	285
7.1	Introduction	285
7.2	The International Legal Regulation of Weapons	287
7.3	Arms Control	290
7.4	Humanitarian Regulation of Weapons	299
7.5	Disarmament	323
7.6	Conclusion	333
	PART IV Jus Post Bellum	337
8	'Post-Conflict' and Governance	339
8.1	Introduction	339
8.2	Jus Post Bellum : What Constitutes Post-Conflict?	343
8.3	Military Occupation	349
8.4	International Territorial Administration	361
8.5	Local Rule with International Presence	365
8.6	Gender Relations and Post-Conflict Governance	369
8.7	Conclusion	372

9	The Liberal Peace: Peacemaking, Peacekeeping and Peacebuilding	374
9.1	Introduction	374
9.2	Peacemaking	378
9.3	Peacekeeping	394
9.4	Peacebuilding	414
9.5	Conclusion	428
10	Justice and Accountability	430
10.1	Introduction	430
10.2	Transitional Justice	431
10.3	Immunity of International Personnel	461
10.4	Conclusion	474
	PART V The Way Forward	477
11	Second-Generation Human Security	479
11.1	Introduction	479
11.2	The Evolution of the Concept of Human Security	481
11.3	The Scope of Human Security	486
11.4	Human Security and Gender	495
11.5	Shifting Contexts and Manifestations of Human Security	501
11.6	The Critiques of Human Security	508
11.7	Reconstructing Human Security	517
11.8	Conclusion	526
12	What Does Human Security Require of International Law?	527
12.1	Introduction: The Aim of the Book	527
12.2	International Law as a Contested Discipline	528
12.3	Overview of Conclusions Relevant to Human Security	534
12.4	Closing the Gap between Legality and Legitimacy?	543
12.5	Conclusion	564
	Index	567